EMMONS TO HEAD FULTON NATIONAL

Comptroller of Currency Approves Application.

Many Prominent Atlantans and Other Georgians Are Among the Incorporators and Proposed Directors of the New Banking Institution.

As exclusively printed in The Constitution, Atlanta is to have a sixth national bank, for on yesterday the comptroller of the currency at Washington approved the application for the incorporation of the "Fulton National Bank," with a capital stock of $300,000 to $500,000.

Since this fact became known in Atlanta, it has developed that M. R. Emmons, of the M. R. Emmons Company, one of Atlanta's most prominent merchants will probably be made its president, Dr. W. J. Bialock, of Atlanta, vice president; I. Bashinski, Jr., of Tennille, cashier, with an Atlanta man, to be named later, as assistant cashier.

The directors of this new bank have about been agreed upon by the prospective stockholders as M. R. Emmons, W. J. Bialock, I. Bashinski, Jr., W. E. McCalla, S. A. Morris, Hoke Smith, and possibly one more.

The dispatch from Washington names as the applicants for this privilege M. R. Emmons, W. J. Bialock, J. Bashinski, Jr., W. R. McCalla and S. A. Morris.

The books for subscriptions to stock in this bank are still open. There will be a meeting of the stockholders in Atlanta early next week, when the directors suggested will, in all probability, be named, and they, in turn, will name the officers of the bank.

At this meeting it will be decided where the home of the bank is to be located. Those in charge of the bank's organization have two propositions in hand—one to go into a bank building, and another to have a new bank building constructed.

These details will be worked out then.

It is the intention of the "Fulton National Bank," which is backed by ample capital, to open up and be ready for business during the month of October.

CANADA RESENTFUL ABOUT PAYNE TARIFF

But No Retaliatory Action Will Be Taken by Dominion.

Montreal, September 2.—While it is true that there is resentment in this country over the new provisions of the Payne tariff, affecting the pulp and paper industry, it is felt, both at Ottawa and Quebec, that nothing can be gained by the imposition of export duties. The federal government, it is officially announced, will not take any action of a retaliatory nature in this direction, and any legislation it may enact will be directed rather to a final settlement than to an aggravation of the difficulties at present in the way.

It can be authoritatively announced that the future action of the Quebec provincial government will be in line with the policy most acceptable to the dominion as a whole, rather than any calculated to meet only the immediate situation as it is found in the province of Quebec.

REBARER RACES AGAINST DEATH

Savannah Man Is Trying to Reach Home.

Rebarer Is in Dying Condition on the City of Savannah and Steamer Is Racing to Get Him Home Before Death --- Prescription Sent by Wireless.

Savannah, Ga., September 2.—Frank E. Rebarer, formerly clerk of the Savannah city council, and now a well-known musician, is being brought to Savannah tonight in probably a dying condition aboard the steamer City of Savannah, which is making all speed to reach port to place the patient in physicians' hands.

Early tonight the steamer was ten miles south of Charleston, when a wireless message to Dr. M. F. Dunn asked for a prescription for Mr. Rebarer. His ailment was said to be sclerosis of the liver. The prescription was sent by wireless. A message announced that the steamer would race the remaining distance to its dock here, coming up the river at night.

Mr. Rebarer had been spending a vacation in the north. He is director of the choirs of the Cathedral of St. John and Temple Mickve Israel. When he left New York Tuesday Mr. Rebarer was ill, and became rapidly worse tonight. Mrs. Rebarer is with him.

JOYOUS FAMILY IN SPEEDING AUTOMOBILE PLUNGED INTO SORROW BY FATAL COLLISION

EIGHT ARE HURT WHEN MACHINE HITS STREET CAR

Charlie Tidwell, the Driver, Is Pinned Under Automobile, When It Turns Turtle.

PROMINENT CITIZENS RUSH TO THE SCENE TO AID THE INJURED

At Grady Hospital It Is Reported That Tidwell Has No Chance to Live, While at Wesley Memorial Two Victims Are Said to Be in Danger of Internal Injuries--Accident at Brookwood.

Charles Tidwell, driver of the wrecked auto, died at 2:40 o'clock this morning at the Grady hospital.

Racing out Peachtree road last night at 7:30 o'clock in his giant 50-horse power Stearns touring car, C. B. Tidwell struck a street car standing on the Brookwood bridge, dashed into a trolley pole fifty feet farther on, and to the right, which turned the car turtle and set it on fire, resulting in his fatal injury, serious hurt to his bride of ten days, perhaps fatal injuries to his niece and nephew-in-law, and bad bruises and shocks to his sister-in-law and too small nieces and nephew.

LIST OF THE INJURED WHEN AUTO HIT STREET CAR.

C. B. Tidwell, owner and driver, concussion of the brain.

C. J. Hightower, nose broken, hurt in head, probably internally.

Mrs. C. J. Hightower, unconscious, probably concussion of brain.

Mrs. C. B. Tidwell, hurt on chin, badly stunned.

Mrs. Mamie Tidwell, cut and bruised, badly shaken up.

Mamie Tidwell, scratched and skinned.

Ruth Tidwell, scratched and skinned.

Willie Tidwell, badly skinned and stunned.

The entire party was related and all lived at No. 62 Kendall street, formerly Copenhill.

CARS GOING AT HIGH SPEED, ACCORDING TO WITNESSES.

According to eye-witnesses of the tragic accident, around the bend in Peachtree road in front of the Rhodes home there flashed out of the night the glaring eyes of two steaming monsters, the one seeming bent on catching the other, while the one in front bent all power in eluding the oncoming rush of its pursuer.

Street car No. 258, in charge of Conductor T. B. Millard and Motorman W. M. Dodson, had reached the bridge and had stopped to reverse the trolley for the return trip. The motorman always carries the large headlight from one end to the other while the conductor carries the trolley rope, reversing the trolley pole.

There is a variance in the statements of the witnesses as to whether the trolley pole was being reversed or had just been reversed when the automobile crashed into the end of the street car nearest town. Some say that the trolley had just been reversed, and the period of darkness to which a car is subjected during this process had just elapsed, and the car was lighted when the impact came, and others state that the car was in darkness when the crash came and was lighted soon after the impact.

The street car men said their lights were on.

The leading car in the mad race of speed flashed by the still street car

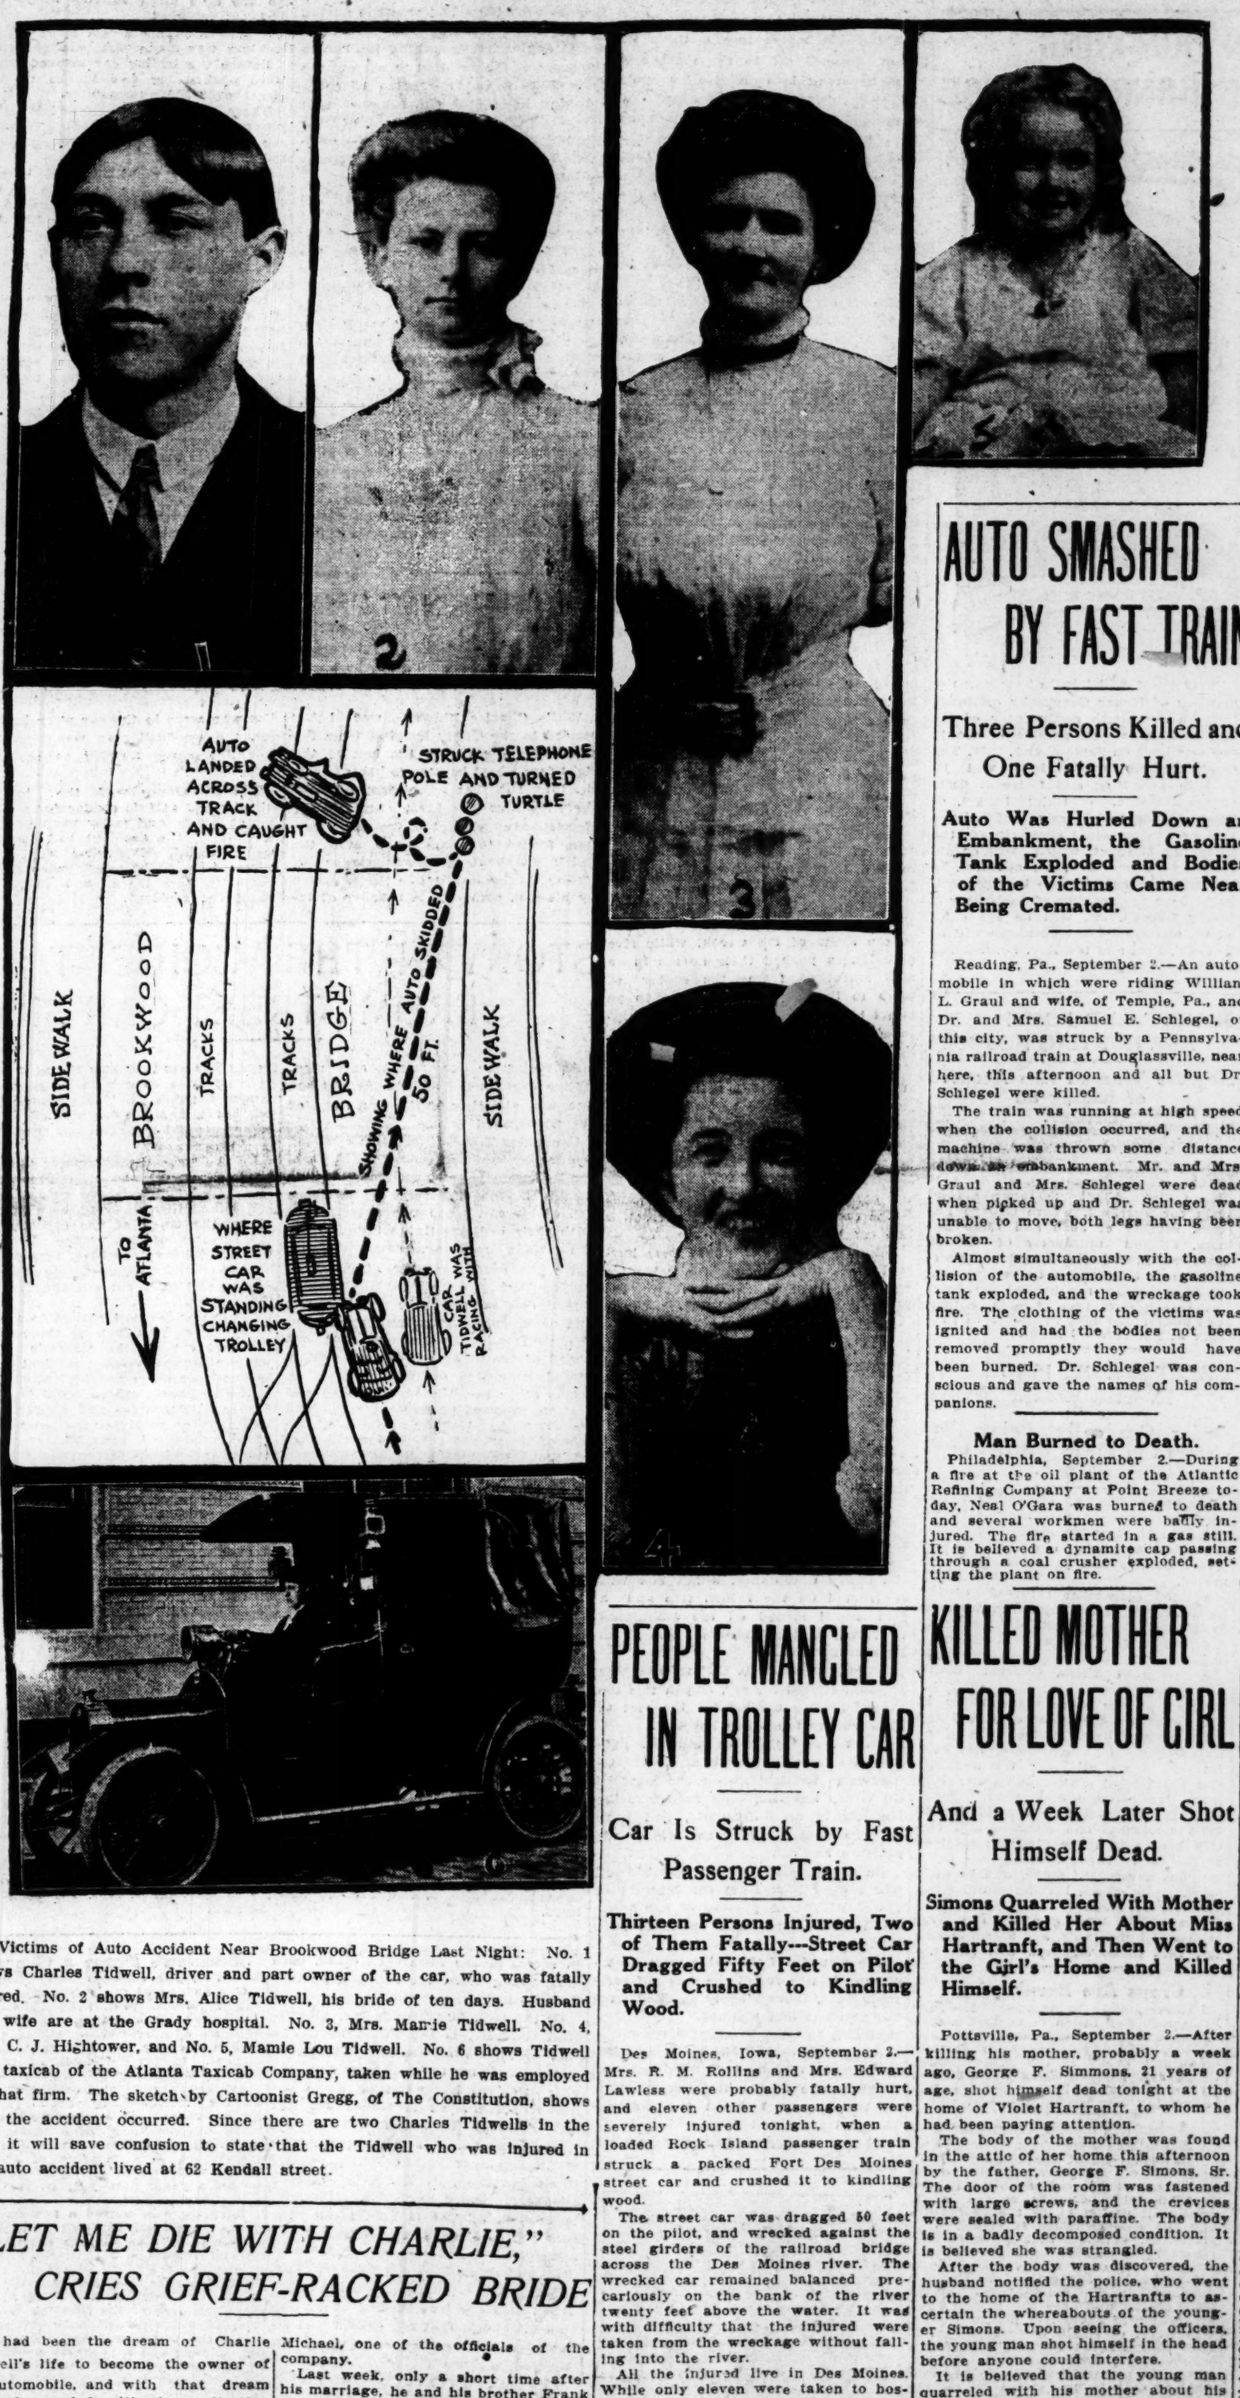
CHARLES TIDWELL, SON OF LATE W. R. TIDWELL.

Charles Tidwell was the son of the late W. R. Tidwell, who was a jeweler at McDonough. He came to Atlanta eight years ago. His brother, Frank Tidwell, has been living in the city twelve years. He had three sisters, Mrs. J. B. Reynolds, Mrs. C. J. Tidwell and Mrs. Eula Davis.



Victims of Auto Accident Near Brookwood Bridge Last Night: No. 1 shows Charles Tidwell, driver and part owner of the car, who was fatally injured. No. 2 shows Mrs. Alice Tidwell, his bride of ten days. Husband and wife are at the Grady hospital. No. 3, Mrs. Mamie Tidwell. No. 4, Mrs. C. J. Hightower, and No. 5, Mamie Lou Tidwell. No. 6 shows Tidwell in a taxicab of the Atlanta Taxicab Company, taken while he was employed by that firm. The sketch by Cartoonist Gregg, of The Constitution, shows how the accident occurred. Since there are two Charles Tidwells in the city, it will save confusion to state that the Tidwell who was injured in the auto accident lived at 62 Kendall street.

"LET ME DIE WITH CHARLIE," CRIES GRIEF-RACKED BRIDE

It had been the dream of Charlie Tidwell's life to become the owner of an automobile, and with that dream realized, coupled with the realization of his love dream, the fatal accident of last night is an unusually dramatic and sad disaster.

Ever since the automobile came into existence, Tidwell had saved up his money and was determined some day to own one. He worked faithfully as a conductor for the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, and spent his spare time in studying the intricacies of the automobile.

When he came into the employ of the Atlanta Taxicab Company it was for the purpose of training himself in the care and control of an automobile, and he became so efficient that his skill was recognized by Mr. McMichael, one of the officials of the company.

Last week, only a short time after his marriage, he and his brother Frank acquired an interest in the big 50-horse power Stearns machine. It was sold to them by Harry English, through Albert Hughes, for $900. The car had been tried out and found in good shape. Charlie was given the care of the machine, and it was the intention to rent it out to parties for pleasure riding. From this source Tidwell hoped to make a comfortable income.

On last night, the entire household at 62 Kendall street was in the machine, it being the first opportunity Tidwell had to take them to ride in his automobile—the thing for which he had worked all his life.

"Let me die with Charlie!" cried the young grief-stricken bride as she realized the condition of her husband at the hospital.

ALL THE WORLD IS ACCLAIMING DARING DR. COOK

Story of Discovery of North Pole Seems to Be Generally Accepted.

OVATION FOR EXPLORER WHEN HE COMES HOME

Dr. Cook Will Reach Copenhagen Saturday and Will Arrive in New York Some Time This Month--His Home-Coming to Be Made of National Importance.

WIFE OF EXPLORER COOK HAD FAITH IN HUSBAND.

Brunswick, Maine, September 2.—Mrs. F. A. Cook, wife of the explorer, declined to talk at length today concerning her husband's achievement, declaring she did not desire notoriety.

"I am very glad that my husband has reached the pole and gained the chief desire of his life. I have always had great faith in the success of his undertaking, and have never for a moment felt he would not win."

This is all she would say.

WIFE OF EXPLORER PEARY CONGRATULATES DR. COOK.

Eagle Island, Maine, September 2.—"If Dr. Cook has found the pole, I most certainly extend my heartiest congratulations," said Mrs. Robert E. Peary today, when asked if she thought Dr. Cook had reached the pole. Mrs. Peary is expecting a message from Commander Peary himself the middle of next month or sooner, and hopes that he, too, has been successful in his endeavors to reach farthest north.

Copenhagen, September 2.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook's credit stands so high with Danish polar experts that the first message announcing his success in reaching the North Pole, meager as it was, has been accepted as conclusive. Commodore Haygard said today:

"I believe the message is true, because Dr. Cook is most trustworthy, and opposed to all exaggeration."

C. A. Nielsen, an official of the Greenland administration department, who is well acquainted with Dr. Cook, and was associated with him in Greenland, said:

"When Dr. Cook says that he reached the North Pole, there caan be no doubt about it. His scientific discoveries will prove that."

A committee under the presidency of the minister of commerce has been formed to arrange a fitting reception to the intrepid explorer on his arrival at Copenhagen.

Minister Egan to Meet Cook.

Dr. Maurice F. Egan, the American minister, will be aboard a special steamer that will be sent out by the Royal Geographical Society tomorrow

AUTO SMASHED BY FAST TRAIN

Three Persons Killed and One Fatally Hurt.

Auto Was Hurled Down an Embankment, the Gasoline Tank Exploded and Bodies of the Victims Came Near Being Cremated.

Reading, Pa., September 2.—An automobile in which were riding William L. Graul and wife, of Temple, Pa., and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Schlegel, of this city, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train at Douglassville, near here, this afternoon and all but Dr. Schlegel were killed.

The train was running at high speed when the collision occurred, and the machine was thrown some distance down the embankment. Mr. and Mrs. Graul and Mrs. Schlegel were dead when picked up and Dr. Schlegel was unable to move, both legs having been broken.

Almost simultaneously with the collision of the automobile, the gasoline tank exploded, and the wreckage took fire. The clothing of the victims was ignited and had the bodies not been removed promptly they would have been burned. Dr. Schlegel was conscious and gave the names of his companions.

Man Burned to Death.

Philadelphia, September 2.—During a fire at the oil plant of the Atlantic Refining Company at Point Breeze today, Neal O'Gara was burned to death and several workmen were badly injured. The fire started in a gas still. It is believed a dynamite cap passing through a coal crusher exploded, setting the plant on fire.

PEOPLE MANGLED IN TROLLEY CAR

Car Is Struck by Fast Passenger Train.

Thirteen Persons Injured, Two of Them Fatally---Street Car Dragged Fifty Feet on Pilot and Crushed to Kindling Wood.

Des Moines, Iowa, September 2.—Mrs. R. M. Rollins and Mrs. Edward Lawless were probably fatally hurt, and eleven other passengers were severely injured tonight, when a loaded Rock Island passenger train struck a packed Fort Des Moines street car and crushed it to kindling wood.

The street car was dragged 50 feet on the pilot, and wrecked against the steel girders of the railroad bridge across the Des Moines river. The wrecked car remained balanced precariously on the bank of the river twenty feet above the water. It was with difficulty that the injured were taken from the wreckage without falling into the river.

All the injured live in Des Moines. While only eleven were taken to hospitals, everybody in the street car was hurt.

Mrs. Lawless, who may die, had her throat cut by a piece of glass.

Conductor Harry Badgley, of the street car, declared that the right-of-way had been given his car by the flagman at the crossing.

KILLED MOTHER FOR LOVE OF GIRL

And a Week Later Shot Himself Dead.

Simons Quarreled With Mother and Killed Her About Miss Hartranft, and Then Went to the Girl's Home and Killed Himself.

Pottsville, Pa., September 2.—After killing his mother, probably a week ago, George F. Simmons, 21 years of age, shot himself dead tonight at the home of Violet Hartranft, to whom he had been paying attention.

The body of the mother was found in the attic of her home this afternoon by the father, George F. Simons, Sr. The door of the room was fastened with large screws, and the crevices were sealed with paraffine. The body is in a badly decomposed condition. It is believed she was strangled.

After the body was discovered, the husband notified the police, who went to the home of the Hartranfts to ascertain the whereabouts of the younger Simons. Upon seeing the officers, the young man shot himself in the head before anyone could interfere.

It is believed that the young man quarreled with his mother about his paying attentions to the young girl.

GREAT STRIDES MADE IN THE RELIEF WORK

Order Gradually Being Restored in Flood District of Mexico.

Monterey, Mexico, September 2.—As communication is gradually restored with the flood-swept section of northern Mexico, previous reports as to losses of life and property are confirmed.

Belated dispatches received at the headquarters of the third military zone in this city today tell of damage to the towns of Rayones and Galeana, and of the practical destruction of the towns of Meier, General Bravo and Gamargo.

Great strides were made today in the relief work in Monterey and the refugees are being taken care of as well as possible. Much money has been received from all over the republic and the United States, but principally from San Antonio and other Texas cities. The destruction wrought by the flood comprises one hundred and two city blocks in three different sections of the city. These districts are nothing but a mass of ruins, and in most cases swept clean, leaving nothing but deposits of sand.

The stench arising along the river is almost unbearable, and alarm is now felt that much sickness will result.

Crops Are Burning Up.

Philadelphia, September 2.—Very little rain has fallen in eastern Pennsylvania for several months past, and the drought which has been thereby created is today in the acute stage. Crops and pasture fields have burned up for lack of moisture, and the loss to the farmers has been heavy.

Actors' Pay in Germany.

(From The New York Tribune.)

The campaign of the German actors in favor of the new theater laws which are under consideration in the German reichstag has caused much public discussion as to the profession and the income which it yields. One statistical article which is being extensively circulated says that 45 per cent of Germany's actors receive from 720 to 1,000 marks a year; 25 per cent 2,400 marks; 20 per cent, from 2,400 to 3,000 marks, and only 10 per cent have an income of over 3,000 marks a year. The worst of it all, the actors say, is that they cannot be employed for a whole year, even at these figures. "That the theater year only lasts about nine months is no fault of ours, nor do we blame the managers, but that 3,000 marks a year (about $750) is looked upon as good pay for an actor for a year's services is proof that we should have an organization," says one of the aggrieved ones like a streak of light, and was lost in the night.

EIGHT ARE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

AUTOMOBILE TURNS TURTLE; TIDWELL PINNED UNDER IT.

What Tidwell thought or did will never be known. His car struck the side of the street car a glancing blow, breaking his lamps into a thousand pieces, caromed off to the right and went headlong into a trolley pole and then turned completely over, pinioning Tidwell under the car, with Mrs. Hightower, and throwing the other occupants headlong onto the hard paved road. The impact from the automobile striking and breaking the automobile lamps scattered the oil in them over the car and set the topsy-turvy machine on fire.

The accident had been witnessed by Fred L. Seely as the race shot past his home; by Charlie Black and E. L. Traynham, as the cars flashed between them, and by George McKenzie, in front of whose home the car turned turtle.

They all, with several negroes, who were waiting for the street car to return to the city, rushed over to the injured people, whose screams and cries were most piercing, and began to fight the flames and at the same time lift the heavy touring car from those pinioned underneath.

Had it not been for their quick and heroic action, they would have certainly burned to death.

CHARLIE BLACK USES COAT TO SMOTHER THE FLAMES.

In fighting the fire and lifting the car, Charlie Black's coat caught on fire from the leaping oil-lit flames, and in a jiffy he was enveloped in fire. He threw off his coat on to the fire to help smother it. Several buckets of water were brought from the McKenzie home and poured on the fire, putting it out. In burning his coat, Charlie Black had a fire insurance policy charred to nothingness.

Those who had not rushed to the scene of the automobile accident went to the telephone and called up the hospitals and fire department.

Two fire engines made the run from No. 11 engine house, on North avenue, to the scene of the wreck, while five ambulances pushed their horses in a mad Marathon from the center of town to the Brookwood bridge in an effort to bring the dying and badly injured to the hospitals in record-breaking time

Those living in Brookwood near the scene of the accident made the injured as comfortable as possible until the arrival of help from town.

The Grady ambulance, after a record-breaking run, with the horses lathered from mane to tail, arrived on the scene first.

The ambulance of H. M. Patterson & Son came a minute later.

Into the Grady ambulance were hurried C. B. Tidwell and his bride for the mad race with death to the Grady hospital.

Into the Patterson ambulance, in charge of Fred Patterson, were placed Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hightower and rushed to the Wesley Memorial hospital for urgent treatment, while into the automobile of F. L. Seely, Mrs. Mattie Tidwell and her three children were placed for their run to the hospital.

RIGHT-OF-WAY IS GIVEN TO ALL AMBULANCES AND AUTOS.

The-right-of-way was given these three into the city.

As a result of the hard run made by the Grady ambulance, a hot box was contracted on the return trip and a rear wheel locked on the ambulance in front of the English home, on Peachtree street.

Commissioner H. L. Collier, who was passing, offered his car, and in this the Tidwells were carried for the rest of their run to the Grady hospital.

Dr. W. S. Goldsmith and Dr. Persons, the house physician at the Elkin-Goldsmith sanitarium, on the staff of the Grady hospital, were rushed to the hospital in an automobile, and were in the operating room when the patients arrived.

An examination showed that Tidwell was fatally hurt from the fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain, but a brave fight was made to save him.

The wounds of the bride were dressed, and it was found she was not seriously hurt, though badly shocked from the accident and stunned.

MAKING LOVE TO WIFE WHEN THE ACCIDENT OCCURRED.

It was stated that Tidwell was making love to his bride at the time of the impact between the automobile and the street car.

At the Wesleyan Memorial hospital,

CHARLES H. BLACK.
Well-Known Real Estate Man Who Burned Coat in Extinguishing Burning Auto. He Helped Rescue the Victims of the Accident from Beneath the Car.

BROOKWOOD BRIDGE PROVES MECCA FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

Peachtree street, accustomed to hundreds of automobiles daily, never saw such a concourse of machines as went dashing out that thoroughfare last night between 7:30 and 8 o'clock, immediately after the report had reached the city of the horrible accident noted elsewhere.

The first intimation that residents along that street from North avenue to Brookwood bridge had was the daring dash of two fire engine companies from No. 11 engine house making the run to the scene of the accident to put out the fire. Hardly had the noise of those clanging bells died down before that never-to-be-forgotten sound of the hospital ambulance running into crescendo began to approach from the center of the city.

With a clang that scattered children from the sidewalk into the house; that stopped their ears, caused incoming autos to draw up at the curve, the foam flecked horses pulled the Grady ambulance by like a streak of light.

This sound had not died away in the distance before the bell of the Patterson ambulance, with Fred Patterson holding the lines over the team that was racing with death.

With a sound that rose and fell like a giant sob this wagon of mercy went by.

In a flash the three other ambulances in the city went by like streaks.

Every Car in Service.

By this time the north side was thoroughly aroused. There began to flow by in a ceaseless stream automobiles that seemed to spring up like mushrooms.

Those who were anxious to go to the scene of the accident too poor to own a car pressed taxicabs into service at 30 cents a mile. When this supply had been exhausted the street cars began to be loaded down with the crowd that was bent on but one thing—getting to the accident.

At first this flow of humanity poured steadily out Peachtree in one general direction, toward Buckhead. No one then knew exactly where the accident occurred.

A short distance away, however, its location was made plainly apparent.

Before the trolley car arrived there were packed for two blocks up the street over 100 automobiles.

There were between 200 and 300 people on the ground crowding around the demolished car and asking questions.

Some people picked up the broken bits of glass where the auto struck the trolley car, while still others went over to the spot where Mr. Tidwell was pinioned under the car and pointed out to those coming later where the automobile struck the trolley pole.

Had the car not struck the pole or the side of the bridge, in all probability the entire party would have been projected down the embankment on the tracks of the Southern railway, a sheer drop of from twenty to forty feet.

The wrecked car, with its mass of bent, burnt and twisted machinery, was the magnet which held fixed the gaze of scores until far into the night.

It was late when the tide of humanity flowed back into the city and it will doubtless ebb back that way this morning It is doubtful if so many persons ever visited a similar accident in Atlanta before.

LADIES LEAVE THEIR AUTO TO MAKE ROOM FOR HURT

While Charles Tidwell was being carried to the Grady hospital from the scene of the accident the box of the right fore wheel became so heated from the long run that wheel jammed near the corner of Peachtree street and Merritts avenue. Just as the ambulance was forced to come to a stop the Buick runabout of Commissioner of Public Works Henry L. Collier, driven by his son, came up. A number of ladies who were in the car were hustled out, the wounded man was placed in it and he was hurried to the hospital.

The ambulance with the jammed wheel stood at this corner for a number of hours, and many people seeing it, thought the accident had occurred at this point. All during the early hours of the night people were alighting from cars there and inquiring about the accident.

STORY OF THE ACCIDENT FROM STREET CAR SIDE

According to the street car men, trolley car No. 258, on the Brookwood line, was standing at the south end of the Brookwood bridge.

Conductor T. B. Willard had reversed the trolley, and Motorman W. M. Dodson was in the act of changing his headlight from the rear to the front end of his car, when two automobiles, with their brilliant lights illuminating the whole roadway, came dashing down the road from the direction of Ansley Park.

Both cars seemed to be running neck and neck, until they were almost upon the trolley car, when one shot out ahead of the other and passed swiftly toward Peachtree creek.

The other car, loaded with men and women, swerved toward the right, and the forward end of the machine hit the side of the trolley car, just at the gate on the front platform. Instantly the powerful machine darted across the roadway and struck a telephone pole at the north end of the bridge.

The crash of the impact mingled with the screams of the women, and when the street car men looked back from their car they saw the auto turned completely over with its occupants caught beneath it. The gasoline tank had burst, and the car was afire. The other auto did not stop, but sped away in the darkness.

By the time the conductor and motorman reached the overturned auto, several residents in the neighborhood had joined them, having been attracted by the crash of the collision and the screams of the women. The men lifted the heavy machine, dragged the bodies of the victims away from the flames, and then put out the fire with their coats.

Conductor Willard rushed to a nearby residence to telephone the news of the accident to the starter's office, while others summoned medical aid by 'phone from other nearby homes.

Starter Leach, whose office is at the corner of Peachtree and Marietta, immediately on receiving the news ordered a couple of ambulances to the scene, and within fifteen minutes after the collision five ambulances had arrived. The injured were divided between these ambulances and the automobile of F. L. Seely, who lives near the scene of the accident, and were thus conveyed to the hospitals.

VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT MARRIED TEN DAYS AGO

One of the dramatic features of the fatal automobile accident of last night was the fact that only ten days ago Charles Tidwell was married to Miss Alice Martin Pope, of 190 Jones avenue, an event of much interest among a wide circle of friends.

With his bride he moved to the home of his sister, Mrs. Mamie Tidwell, at 62 Kendall street, where Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hightower, the latter a daughter of Mrs. Mamie Tidwell, also lived.

Tidwell was formerly a conductor for the Georgia Railway and Electric company, but severed his connection with the company some time ago to go with the Atlanta Taxicab company. During his employ in the latter's service he was considered one of the most efficient drivers, and Mr. McMichael, an official of the company, held him in high esteem.

At the marriage his friends in the employ of both companies were largely in attendance. Rev. Dr. Grogan officiated.

in rooms across from each other, both dangerously hurt, are Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hightower.

Of the two, Mrs. Hightower, a beautiful brunette, is the worse hurt. She was brought into the hospital unconscious, and up to midnight was unable to give her name or make coherent speech. It is feared she has concussion of the brain.

Her husband, C. J. Hightower, who is an employee of the Arlington Art Glass Company, at No. 43½ Auburn avenue, is badly hurt, too. His nose is broken, and he is hurt about the head. He was barely conscious at midnight.

He roused up once and asked the attending nurse: "How is my wife?" When told she was resting easy, he smiled, though that act caused him renewed pain. He was asked about the accident, and said:

"We were going out to Buckhead in Tidwell's car. We were not going fast; we were going about 4, 5, 6, 8 or maybe 10 miles an hour. We were not racing. The street car did not have any lights on it. We struck it, and that is all I remember."

Mrs. Mattie Tidwell, with her children, were brought to the Wesleyan Memorial hospital, where their wounds were dressed and when it was seen they were not badly hurt they were sent on home for the night.

Honduran Town Burned.

New Orleans, La., September 2.—A cable message received here tonight from Celba, Honduras, says that Bonaito, a town of considerable commercial importance on the north coast of Honduras, was destroyed by fire today.

Sheridan's Home a Grocery.

(From The Chicago Daily News.)

One by one of the old-time mansions which housed prominent families of Chicago of more than two and three decades ago are being abandoned to make way for the invasion of commerece. In each division of the city stately, old-fashioned homes—some of them brownstone and others of white marble fronts—have been razed to make room for business structures. Still others have been turned into boarding houses and one large resimerce. In each division of the city which was one of the show places 30 or more years ago, will be remodeled for yaundry purposes.

Surprise was caused a few days ago when announcement was made of the purchase by John Barton Payne of the former residence of General Philip H. Sheridan at 2007-09 Michigan avenue In this day and generation there are many who will be surprised to learn that the hero of the ride "to Winchester, 20 miles away" was at one time after the war a real bona fide resident of Chicago and a property owner here.

The home formerly was the center of social gayeties, and within its walls many celebrities of the civil war have been entertained by the general and Mrs. Sheridan. The general's last years were passed in Washington, where he had the companionship of General W. T. ("Old Tecumseh") Sherman and other famous warriors.

The Sheridan house in Michigan avenue is of brick and stone, and the ground floor is occupied by a grocery store at present.

Jackson, Miss., September 2.—Fire originating from an unknown source in the boiler room of the Empire planing mill tonight, completely destroyed the plant and burned five houses adjoining. The total loss will be approximately $75,000, covered by insurance. Thirty days ago the lumber yards of the mill were destroyed in a similar manner.

EARNEST APPEAL IS MADE FOR HELPLESS SUFFERERS

W. J. Northen, president of the Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Association, writes to The Constitution of the appreciation which the afflicted feel for the timely story in The Constitution last Sunday in regard to the sufferers in Atlanta.

The statements of President Northen about the work that is being done to help the tuberculosis patients will be read with deep interest. He makes an earnest appeal, which should be promptly met by every person in the city. His communication is as follows:

Are Deeply Grateful.

"Editor Constitution: I feel quite sure the friends of the afflicted and all the good people of the city are deeply grateful for the strong public appeal made in a recent issue of The Constitution, looking to the cure and the prevention of tuberculosis.

"This dread disease has now reached such alarming conditions as threaten the best life of the city, unless arrested before it becomes a scourge and a pestilence beyond control. Mr. Corrigan's presentation was not the least overdrawn. He gave facts and names and places in a story that distressed many that read what he had to say, and yet he hardly began to uncover the things that all the people ought to know. Mr. Corrigan's statement, indorsed by your strong editorial, should awaken all the people to wise, continued and persistent effort, if the city is saved from a plague that is appalling to contemplate.

"The conditions in Atlanta are not worse than conditions in many other cities, in this and other states, but other cities are more fully awake to the necessity for relief and remedy than our people seem to be.

"In the absence of any thing better, the Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Nurse Association was organized, with the view to begin systematic education that would result in some means of relief, through the hearty cooperation of all the people who are concerned about the best health conditions.

"Through the efforts of the association, aided by all the city papers, the people are now quite well informed as to the prevalence of consumption in our midst, and that it can be cured and prevented.

A Practical Application.

"After the education of the people upon fundamental facts, the association next undertook the practical application of the means for the cure and the further prevention. To this end a dispensary was established, where the needy suffering have been furnished advice and medicines gratuitously, or at the merest nominal cost. This dispensary has been run for the exclusive benefit of the needy white population. It has now become evident that the most alarming source of danger from the spread of tuberculosis will come from the negro population. These people permeate the entire city in their service relations to all classes of our people. They are altogether ignorant of the harm they may do, and many of them are quite as indifferent. They are dying at fearful rate, and making possible conditions that ought to be promptly met and prevented. These demands also the association has now undertaken to meet.

"A separate dispensary has been established for these people, hoping to render the negro exactly the same service as is given the white population.

"The income of the association, so far, has been the membership fee of $1 annual contribution; the sale of Red Cross stamps and $1,000 jointly contributed by the city and the county for the cost of the tuberculosis exhibit.

"The sale of the Red Cross stamps netted barely enough for the clerical expenses of the association; the appeals for membership have just about paid expenses for printing and postage. If the association had not received the generous contributions paid by two public-spirited citizens, who have no more reason to be concerned than many others of equal ability, the whole enterprise and effort would go to pieces in a day, and the city left without organized effort for security.

An Appeal Is Made.

"The object of this communication is to make one more appeal to every man, woman and child in the city, who has sympathy for the sick and distressed, and concern for the future of the city, to promptly send $1, the amount of the membership fee, to the association rooms—708 Gould building. Checks can be made payable to Captain W. G. Raoul, chairman of the ways and means committee.

"Many people will read what is here written and feel the awakening of the warmest sympathy, and then let the matter end there. Thousands of others, we hope, will respond heartily, with checks for large and small amounts, so that the further plans of the association may be speedily developed.

"The association is strictly humanitarian. If the officers are willing to pay and to work for nothing, ought not thousands of others be at least willing to help support their effort for the common good?

"The winter is coming now, and pneumonia, tuberculosis and kindred diseases will be taking off the city poor as well as many of comfort and means, if you do not help stay the plague that threatens all our homes. Let this public appeal take the place of a personal call.

"W. J. NORTHEN,
"President Anti-Tuberculosis and Visiting Association."

ROOSEVELT QUITS BIG GAME TO SHOOT GEESE AND PELICANS

Government Farm, Naivasha, British East Africa, Sunday, August 1.—Colonel Roosevelt, accompanied by Major Mearns, came into Naivasha on Thursday, July 22. Kermit Roosevelt had come into the township the day before. Early next morning Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit started off in a small rowboat for pelicans. They had not gone far when the colonel brought down a couple of Egyptian geese with a very pretty shot. They then turned the boat for the usual hunting ground of the pelicans and brought it with the least possible noise to within 150 feet of two fine specimens. Colonel Roosevelt took careful aim and killed a splendid bird with a single shot from his rifle. Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit afterwards indulged in shooting gulls, which have long red beaks and legs and feathers of beautiful slate blue. In all, they bagged five fine specimens and also secured a complete nest with three eggs. Early next morning Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit proceeded by the ordinary passenger train to Nairobi, traveling in the traffic manager's carriage or on the cow catcher.

On arrival at Nairobi the colonel drove to Mr. MacMillan's house, where he is to remain as a guest during his stay in Nairobi.

BLAZING WITH SPLENDOR METEOR CROSSES THE SKIES

Asheville, N. C., September 2.—Blazing with amazing splendor, a large meteor formed a brilliant spectacle of the skies for late pedestrians on the streets tonight. The meteor passed over the federal building, and midway its flight it became a glowing ball of fire about twelve inches in diameter to the naked eye. A shower of falling sparks followed its disappearance.

FIREMAN FINDS HOME IN FLAMES AND HIS TWO LITTLE SONS DEAD

Cincinnati, Ohio, September 2.—Responding to an alarm of fire today, William Willis, captain of a fire department in the suburb of Norwood, found his own home in flames and the dead bodies of his son Elbert, five years old, and Virlis English, four years old, being carried from the place. Both had been suffocated. The two little boys were playing in a room on the second floor of the Willis home when the fire started from some unknown cause and rapidly enveloped the building. Mrs. Willis, mother of the Willis child, was seriously burned while attempting to rescue her son.

Knox and Billiards.

Once upon a time a writing man came over to Washington and spent a day in the white house with Mr. Roosevelt. Then he went away and wrote a whole book about the president, based on that day's observations. Men have known Mr. Knox for years and years, and could not, if their lives depended upon it, write of him 1,000 words of intimate characterization. Once, long ago, somebody seeking his anecdotal "side," wrote that he was a confirmed and brilliant devotee of the game of billiards Today there is hardly a newspaper in the United States that has not at one time or another printed something about Secretary Knox's skill at billiards. As a matter of fact, he has never played the game. It is a problem with him today whether he shall become an expert at billiards or issue a sweeping denial of the stories that make him one

500 MACON FAMILIES OBSERVE MOVING DAY

Many Homes Change Hands in Central City.

Rentals That Have for Years Been Enormous in Macon Are Already Being Knocked Hard by Big Supply of New Homes.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—Many a happy family awoke this morning in Macon with the satisfaction of having spent the first night in their own hove. Moving went on all yesterday and large numbers of the new residences that have been going up during the summer were occupied te first time yesterday. Many more that were not ready will be occupied the first of next month. Five or six hundred families have purchased their own homes in Macon during the past season.

All classes of persons are represented in the changes from the renting lists to actual owners. Small cottages are as numerous as the larger and more commodious residences. In the city suburbs where the pretty sites could be had at a reasonable price the building has been rapid. The enlargement of the communities and the spreading out of the heretofore packed up citizens has offered more comforts and better conditions and in the changes those who have built are happy at the satisfaction of having their own omes.

Rental that have for many years been enormous in Macon are already being knocked hard by the large supply of new homes. The hundreds of citizens who have been forced to meet all sorts of circumstances, living two or three families in one house, are making the changes with the prospects of getting their own houses this year for the first time in many seasons at a reasonable rental.

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK GIVEN A CLEAN BILL

All Criminal Cases Against the Comedian Are Dismissed.

New York September 2.—Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, was given a clean bill on the criminal court records today, when the court of general sessions dismissed the remaining four indictments charging misconduct.

On the fifth of these indictments the actor was tried and acquitted by a jury June 10, 1908. When his attorney applied for the dismissal of the remaining indictments today, Assistant District Attorney Garvin, who tried the case against Hitchcock, offered no opposition and told the court that he was sure he would be unable to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

SPANISH WAR VETERAN BESTED BY CONFEDERATE

Latter Says Former Made Disparaging Remarks About His Service.

Louisville, Ky., September 2.—Joseph Hallman, a confederate veteran, aged 60, put in the hospital John Hudson a Spanish-American war veteran, because Hudson disparaged the service Hallman had seen under Jackson and Lee. Hallman was jailed, pending the outcome of an alleged concussion of the brain, which his blows inflicted upon Hudson.

Hallman says that he is a native of Memphis, and that in a friendly conversation today Hudson attempted to lay over the "glorious struggle of 1863" the exploits of those who had charged up San Juan Hill with Colonel Roosevelt.

LIEUTENANT B. G. MOON TO FACE COURT-MARTIAL

Lieutenant B. G. Moon, of the Coast Artillery Corps, stationed at Fort De Sota, Fla., is to face general court-martial at Fort McPherson on Monday, September 6, when Lietuenant Hazelhurst and Private Elam, of the Seventeenth infantry, are to be tried, on charges stated in The Constitution yesterday morning.

At the Department of the Gulf Thursday it was said the charges in regard to this officer had been forwarded to the judge advocate, who is to officiate at this court, and for that reason could not be shown.

They will not be made public until they are read in court atsthe fort.

This hearing promises to be the most interesting since that held at the Department of the Gulf a year ago, when a similar court was held.

REO AGENCY IS HELD BY J. E. LEVI & CO.

In the automobile story in The Constitution Thursday, in regard to the location of a number of new agencies in Atlanta, it was inadvertently stated that the agency for the R E O car was held by D. D. McCall & Co., who would have stores in the Murphy building on Peachtree street, between Cain and Harris streets.

This was in error. The agency is in the name of J. E. Levi & Co., who will conduct the R E O agency at the place mentioned.

This agency is now located, temporarily, in the Empire building, but as soon as the Murphy building is completed, they will move into their new quarters. It is understood Mr. McNeill is a member of the firm of J. E. Levi & Co.

LEGAL EXPERT NAMED BY TAFT FOR NEW OFFICE

Henry M. Hoyt, former solicitor general of the United States, who has been appointed to the newly created office of counselor of the state department, will have much to do with framing the new Japanese treaty which is to be entered into in the next two years. THEATERS

At the Grand.

The Grand will offer its patrons, Wednesday next, the high-class romantic drama, "Graustark." This clever dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's popular novel of love and romance, which deals with royalty, has been so well received everywhere, the advent of the organization in our midst will be awaited with interest by our theater patrons.

At the Lyric.

Pretty little Beulah Poynter is coming to the Lyric next week, beginning matinee Labor day, in her always popular play, "Lena Rivers," taken from Mary J. Holmes' famous novel of the same name. It was adapted for the stage by Miss Poynter herself, and she made it into a very excellent drama. The flavor of the novel, which is known to everyone, has been carefully preserved, and the dramatic situations have been worked out with a practical and skilled hand.

At the Orpheum.

Seats for the Orpheum will go on sale tomorrow, and it is anticipated the house will be sold out in quick order for the first part of the week. The fact that Monday is Labor day, coupled with the fact that Princess Rajah, the Cleopatra dancer, and the Eight Kitabanzais are both on the initial roll, will conspire to make the opening week one of note in Atlanta.

At Ponce de Leon.

It won't be so many days before Ponce de Leon closes, and now, when the weather is hot and the out-of-doors is inviting, is the best time to visit Ponce de Leon and enjoy the trip. The prices have been cut in the reach of all.

DR. CLEVELAND B. FLOYD ILL AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Popular Campbell County Physician Suffering From Blood Poison.

Dr. Cleveland B. Floyd, perhaps the best known and most popular physician in Campbell county, is dangerously ill at the Presbyterian hospital, in Atlanta, where he was operated upon, Tuesday night by Dr. E. C. Davis.

Dr. Davis came down to Fairburn Tuesday afternoon in his automobile to see Dr. Floyd, and found him to be suffering from blood poisoning of the left hand and arm, and at once decided that a prompt operation was imperative, and advised that he be transferred at once to the hospital, where all especial facilities are available for operation and treatment. Dr. Floyd was accompanied to Atlanta by his wife, who remains at his bedside; R. T. Camp, his brother-in-law, and his friends, Glenn Swanson, W. H. Vickers, Dr. W. H. Elder and Dr. C. H. Davenport, all of Fairburn. Some two weeks ago Dr. Floyd performed an amputation of the leg for one of his patients suffering from blood poisoning, and as is his universal custom, he exercised extreme care and used every known precaution, including the use of rubber gloves, to reduce the danger of infection to a minimum. The operation had been successful and had almost passed out of mind when symptoms of what the doctor, excluding the possibility of pyemia, concluded was a felon developed on one of the fingers of his left hand, and treated it himself accordingly for several days. When the extending infection developed alarming symptoms, consulting physicians were called in, who diagnosed an advanced case of blood poisoning.

It was charged by the plaintiffs at the time of the filing of the suit that the officers of the organization had misappropriated funds which had come into their possession.

There will be a meeting of the West-Side Improvement Club at the Primitive Baptist church, on Kennedy street, tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Matters of importance will be attended to.

LEE COUNTY'S LINK IN GOOD ROADS CHAIN

Interesting Talk With Col. I. P. Cocke, Chm'n Lee Co. Commissioners.

(From The Albany Herald.)

Colonel I. P. Cocke, chairman of the Lee county board of commissioners, is in the city today, and in an interview with a Herald representative talked interestingly of the new road that Lee county is building across the county from the Dougherty county line to the Sumter county line. This road will be one of the links in the chain of county highways forming a continuous good road from Albary to Atlanta, over which will be run the big automobile endurance race in November.

The Lee county link was the last in the chain of good roads to be started. Colonel Cocks says that one of the reasons why Lee county commissioners delayed starting on this road was a desire to have it finished only a short time before the race is pulled off, thus having it in the pink of condition when the prizes are awarded. Lee county wants to win the prize for the best stretch of road, and is going after it with determination.

The road now being built across Lee county will be a magnificent highway, thirty feet in width. Its surface will be smooth and even, with the hills graded down and the low places filled. It will be of sand and clay construction, a method of road-building that is considered second to none for country roads in all respects except that of long life, in which respect the macadam road, of course, is superior. The sand and clay road, when kept in proper repair, affords a surface that for smoothness and easy riding is unexcelled. Sand and clay, mixed in the proper proportions, present a surface that resists moisture in wet weather and remains hard and comparatively dustless in dry weather. It is this kind of road that the Lee county commissioners are building, and which has been completed for a distance of two miles.

A large force of hands is at work on the road, and it is expected that the entire stretch, from the Dougherty line to the Sumter line, near Smithville, will be completed by October 25. At present the road is being worked through the Newsom and Forrester places. The entire length of the road will be considerably more than twenty miles.

The Lee county commissioners are receiving the praise of all good roads enthusiasts for the excellent manner in which the Lee county good roads project is being carried out, and all who have inspected that part of the road which has already been completed say that other counties will have to hustle if they expect to keep Lee from winning the prize.

BIG SWINDLE WORKED IN MINERAL LANDS

About $400,000 Taken Out of the Pockets of Easterners.

Cheyenne, Wyo., September 2.—Mineral land swindles in northern Wyoming in two years have taken $400,000 out of the pockets of residents of eastern states, according to State Geologist Edwin Hall, who says he will ask Governor Brooks to take immediate action in cases which he investigated after having received more than fifty letter of inquiry from people said to have been defrauded.

Hall says that in the vicinity of Sun Dance alone a coterie of swindlers secured $30,000 by getting from eastern people $101.30 each for 300 iron claims, promising that the 20-acre claims would later be purchased for $40 an acre. The $101.30, he states was represented to be the cost of doing location work and filing papers.

Such location work, he reports, was never done. In fact, he declares, there is no evidence that a pick was ever stuck into the surface of the claims.

LOCOMOTIVE OUTPUT VERY SHORT IN 1908

American Company's Report Shows Big Decrease in Revenue.

The report sets forth that as a result of the extreme business depression of 1908 the output of locomotives was the lowest of any year in the company's history. VENEZUELA IS PAYING CLAIMS OF AMERICANS

Heavy Legacy of Debt Left the Country by Castro.

Caracas, Saturday, August 21.—W. W. Russell, American minister, today received from the foreign office a check for $59,375, which is to be paid to the New York and Venezuela Company. He also received the signed protocol by which the Venezuelan government binds itself to pay $415,625 more in seven yearly installments. This $475,000 is the first of several large sums which the present government of Venezuela must pay in atonement for the confiscation and destruction of American property rights in Venezuela by the Castro government. The whole amount will be more than a million dollars, as a large monetary indemnity will be paid also to the Orinoco corporation. The New York and Venezuelan company releases all of its rights in Venezuela in view of the indemnity.

The Orinoco corporation is trying to effect a similar settlement.

TAFT TO TRAVEL OVER 12,000 MILES

1,165 Miles of Trip to Be on Steamboat.

During His Long Swing Thro' the South and West President Taft Will Be in Touch With the White House.

Beverly, Mass., September 2.—During his long swing through the west and south, beginning September 15, President Taft will be in constant touch with the white house by means of special telegraph wires. These special wires will be established in zones, and as soon as the president's train passes from one zone to another the loops into the telegraph room at the white house will be rearranged. At almost any station along the route it will be possible for the president to send a message direct to the executive offices in Washington over a wire temporarily under the control of the government.

The official itinerary of the president's trip shows the total mileage to be 12,759, of which 1,165 miles will be made on a steamboat down the Mississippi river. The distance of the trip falls about 1,000 miles short of the long tour President Roosevelt made to the Pacific coast, but the addition of three side trips the president will make out of Washington immediately after his return here on November 10 will bring the total of the journey far above that of his predecessor.

The highest point at which the president will stop for any length of time is the rim of the Grand Canyon, which is 6,900 feet aboye the sea level. The lowest point for a stop is at New Orleans, which is but 5 feet above the level of the sea. Crossing the Rocky mountains, however, the president's train will attain an altitude of more than 10,000 feet.

TSETSE FLY EGGS SENT BY ROOSEVELT

Washington Scientists to Hatch Them for Experiments.

Washington, September 2.—Two of the skins sent to the Smithsonian institution by the Roosevelt expedition were of the species of rabbit which harbors the tsetse fly, the cause of sleeping sickness.

Many tsetse fly eggs were found clinging to the specimens, and the Smithsonian scientists hope to hatch these for experimental purposes.

The skins of the rabbits were not packed in brine, as the larger skins were, and the eggs are supposed to be in good condition.

Precautions will be taken to prevent the escape of any of the flies should the eggs hatch.

FOOTHOLD IN JAPAN FOR GENERAL ELECTRIC

The American Company May Absorb Great Shibaura Engineering Works.

Seattle, Wash., September 2.—Tonight the commercial commissioners of Japan, now on a tour of this country, met here to organize for a systematic study of the commerce of the United States.

In connection with the statement that the tour is expected to result in the absorption of the great Shibaura Engineering Works of Japan, by the General Electric Company of the United States, it is said that the General Electric Company has been conducting a selling business in Japan for the last fifteen years. Besides transacting business under its own name, the American corporation owns 51 per cent of the stock of the Tokyo Denki Company and controls the directorate.

The most powerful competitor of the American company is the Shibaura Engineering works, 51 per cent of the stock of which is owned by the Mitzui company, represented by Iwohara.

FOR BOND ISSUE 4TH WARD ANXIOUS

Only by Bonds Can Permanent Sewer Improvements Be Made.

For the purpose of securing temporary sewer improvements, a delegation of fourth ward citizens will appear at 11 o'clock this morning before the sanitary sewer committee in the city engineer's office. They state that plans outlined at a recent meeting of council for sewer improvements will not aid them, and they have a plan of their own, which they believe will give relief.

Some twenty-five citizens met last night at the residence of Dr. W. H. Hoey, at 720 North Boulevard, where this policy was agreed upon, after an interesting meeting.

The consensus of opinion at the meeting was that bonds was the only permanent relief in the sewer situation, and members expressed themselves as anxious for the bonds, and confident that the fourth ward would be found voting strong in the bond column.

The meeting was preliminary to a fourth ward organization, which will be formed at another meeting to be held on Tuesday night.

TRAVELERS AND GULLS EASY FOR EASTERNERS

CRACKERS GET ANOTHER ONE

Atkins Flung Shut-Out Ball All Through.

Veteran Hart Was Wild at Times, and Six Errors Were Made Behind Him---Newton's Bobble Gives the Travelers a Run.

Little Rock, Ark., September 2.—(Special.)—Tommy Atkins was the hero of the opening battle between the Crackers and the oft-licked Travelers. He let the home talent down with three singles all coming in separate innings. He would have scored a shut-out had it not been for a nasty peg to first by Newton in an effort to complete a double-play which would have ended the inning. The ball escaped Sid Smith and permitted Jones, the Travelers' recruit shortstop, from the Western Association, to score from third.

The veteran, Bill Hart, was feeling real coltish but developed wildness in the last two innings which caused his undoing. He passed Lee in the eighth and McMurray in the ninth. Both of these athletes scored. Bill busted a finger trying to stop a hot smash from McMurray's bat in the fifth, and to this unfortunate circumstance he attributes his lack of control and Atlanta's victory.

According to their usual custom, the Crackers scored in the first. Winters singled to right. McMurray sacrificed and Smith singled to center. Collins made a beautiful pick-up on the dead run and shot the ball to Jones who dropped it, losing a possible chance to get Winters at the plate.

Many Men On Bases.

The Crackers got men on bases in nearly every inning after this but Hart was strong in the pinches and Kid Casey helped by chucking out McMurray and Lee when they tried to steal.

In the eighth, however, the Smith folks scored again. Lee walked, Jordan sacrificed and after Newton had grounded out, Barr scored the run when his grounder took a bad bound over Jones' head.

The Travelers broke the ice in their half. With one out, Jones walked and stole second; Grady hit one over second on which Jordan made a beautiful stop with no chance to get the runner. Hart hit to Jordan who tossed Grady out at second but with plenty of time to complete the double, Newton made a low fling to first which enabled Jones to score while Hart took second.

This tally the Crackers grabbed back in the ninth. McMurray walked with one down and took third on Smith's single to right. A pretty bunt by Lee scored the little catcher.

Mobile's Sliding Some.

Mobile, Ala., September 2.—Nashville opened the last series of the season on the home grounds this afternoon and Mobile handed them the game on a platter in the first four innings of play, her five errors and Nashville's three hits giving the visitors four runs.

Viebahn forced in a run in the fifth inning, Mobile filling the bases after two men were out. Although Mobile out-hit the visitors, Viebahn kept the hits well scattered, and his present was the only run the locals got.

Only four scattered hits were made off Bittrolff, but Mobile's error offset his good work in the box. After Nashville forged to the front the entire team played like a bunch of quitters.

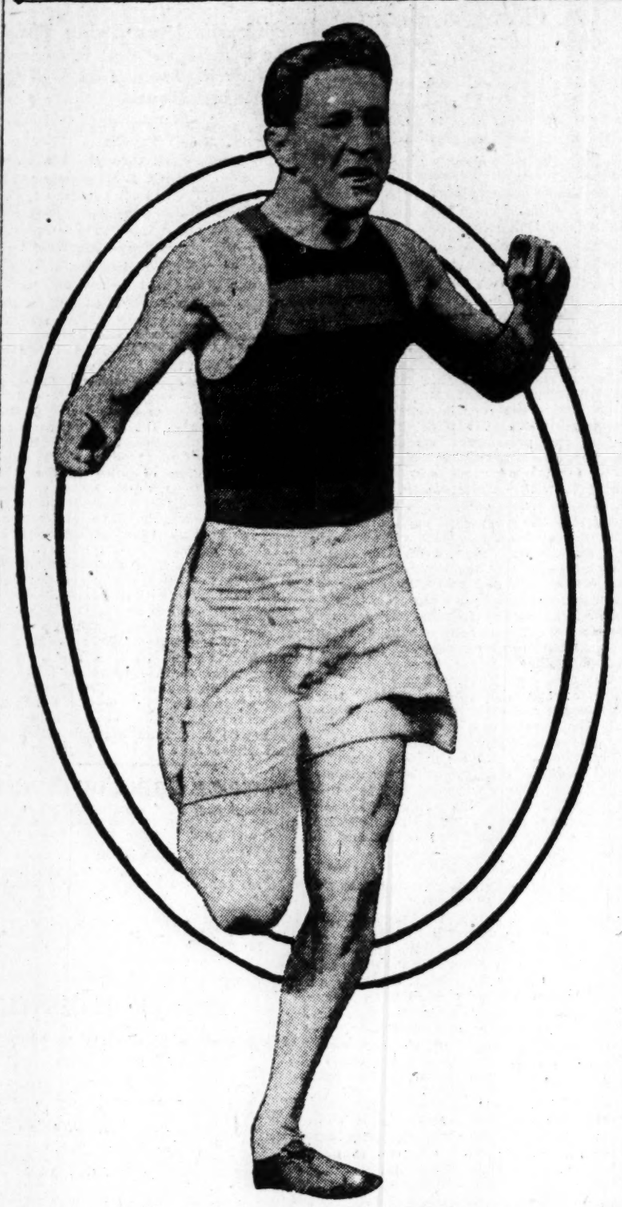
NAT CARTMELL, WHO IS SHOWING HIS HEELS TO ENGLISH CRACKS



The recent exploits of Nat Cartmell, the former crack sprinter of the University of Pennsylvania, who has been in England since last summer, has caused considerable gossip among the followers of athletics in this country. When he went abroad last year with the Olympic team, Cartmell was picked to win several short distance events, but he failed. Since then he has improved wonderfully and is now showing his heels to the English cracks. Recently in a 200-meter event he defeated Reggie Walker, the South African speed marvel. Cartmell is now competing in England as a member of the Birchfield Harriers. As far as competition in the United States is concerned, he has disqualified himself, as he has violated the general rules of the American Athletic Union.

Knoxville 4, Augusta 3.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 2.—After the locals had apparently hopelessly lost the opening game to Augusta through dumb base running and infield errors, they bunched four singles off Griffin which, with an error by Carson, allowed them to tie the score. In the tenth inning, after one man was out, Griffin walked Massing, and was then retired in favor of Wagner. Nadeau hit the second ball pitched to right field, and Massing scored the winning run.

Kalazamoo, Mich., September 2.—Medium Line won the 2:13 trot at today's meeting in the Great Western circuit. This was the feature event, the purse being $2,000. Mantell took the first two heats but Medium Line captured the third heat in fast time and took the two following heats with less effort.

Capitola, driven by Dick McMahon, won the three-year-old pace. Oro won the free-for-all trot in straight heats. In the 2:16 pace, Wild Hunter scored three firsts after Bird H., had come in ahead twice.

Local Man Wins Handily From Pacific Coast Star.

Tri-State Tournament at Cincinnati Furnishes Number of Surprises, Among Which Is Nat Thornton's Unexpected Strength.

Cincinnati, September 2.—Surprises galore were furnished in the Tri-State tennis tourney.

The most startling reversals of form were the defeat of Carlton R. Gardner, the Pacific coast star, by Nat Thornton, of Atlanta, ex-southern champion.

The defeat of Mrs. C. N. Beard, of Cleveland, and Miss Miriam Steever, of Chicago, in ladies' doubles, by Misses Martha Kinsey and Adellee Kruse, a Cincinnati team, and the defeat of Nat Emerson and Harry Waldner, of Chicago, ex-western champions, by Lincoln Mitchell and W. D. Breed, a Cincinnati team, were also unexpected.

The teams' work was the more startling, because it was straight sets, the scores being 6-2, 6-4, 6-4. Misses Kruse and Kinsey beat Mrs. Beard and Miss Steever, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3. The visitors captured the first set, but were outplayed after that.

After winning his first set, 6-2, from Nat Thornton, Gardner, the coast star, became inaccurate in his play and lost the next two sets, 6-2, 6-1.

Tigers Take Third Straight From Fred Lake's Lads

Detroit, Mich., September 2.—By beating Boston today, 8 to 5, Detroit accomplished the unusual feat of taking every game played with the four eastern clubs in the series closed by this contest.

The victory was achieved, as have been a majority of the others, by scoring enough runs in the first inning to give the team an advantage all the way. Boston hit harder than Detroit, but the latter ran bases in daring style, and took advantage of errors.

Only two hits figured in the first two runs, while Moriarity's home run counted two in the fourth. Pape finished the game, and two bunts in the eighth, beaten by Bush and Cobb, cost him two runs, after his team had made the score close.

Hard Luck Reports.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—(Special.) — Seventy-seven applicants for license to practice medicine in Alabama failed at the last testing time, and the reports to that effect are being sent out by W. R. Brassell, chief clerk to the department of health. There were seventy-three who made the landing and are now getting busy with the ailments of the human frame. "I hate to do it," said Dr. Brassell as he folded up the "I regret to report" documents, "but the health of the state requires it." Dr. Brassell is also sending out copies of the state health laws in pamphlet form.

OLAMBALA TAKES TWIN CITY PRIZE

Another Stake Added by Saratoga Cup Winner.

King James, Making His First Appearance Since the Brooklyn Handicap in the Spring, Ran Second.

Sheepshead Bay, September 2.—Olambala, winner of the Saratoga cup, today added another stake to his list, when he easily won the Twin City handicap, mile and a quarter, here today. The race had a value of $3,000. King James ran second, with Half Sovereign third. King James made his first appearance since the Brooklyn handicap early this spring, and was in no condition to race, being high in flesh. King James and Half Sovereign went out to make the pace and they ran head and head to the far turn. Here Butwell sent Olambala up on the outside. He took the lead on the turn and was never afterward in trouble, winning by five lengths. King James was the same distance in front of Half Sovereign.

DUNKHORST MEETS BIRD IN GORDON

"Cheyenne Cougar" a Fighter, Says He'll Put Dunkhorst Out, Certain.

The fiercest fighter who ever entered a ring in Wyoming and knocked his opponent out of it, will appear in the Armory hall arena next Monday night in an engagement with Young Dunkhorst.

This man's name is Gordon though he does not fight under that name in the west. What his real nom-de-ring is he will disclose the night of the fight and not until then.

Gordon is known not only all over Wyoming but in the surrounding states, and is regarded as one of the most promising young fighters of the far west.

Gordon is a broth of a man, not ponderous, but long, lanky and powerful in the extreme. He is built on fine, broad lines and when he hits a blow something usually gives way. He is stout in his belief that Dunkhorst will not last the ten rounds against him.

"Wait till I rush into that lad," says the confident Cheyenne Cougar, "and I'll show him something about fighting. We have agreed to fight all the way through and that certainly suits my game. I'm going to make that man fight the battle of his life if he wins, and if he doesn't he will be knocked out sure. I'm not much given to draw decisions."

PACING DERBY WON BY SIMON KENTON

Victory a Great Surprise to the Talent.

As Kenton Was Not Considered Worthy of Thought --- The $10,000 Massachusetts Stake Was Won by Margin.

Readville, Mass., September 2.—Simon Kenton fairly dropped from the clouds today and won the American pacing Derby at the Grand Circuit meeting at Readville. Until he passed the winning post nobody considered him worthy of thought, the favorite being Asa Wilkes, with The Eel a strong second choice in the betting. Simon Kenton's time was 3:12.

Twelve thousand persons were out to enjoy the double bill offered, for it was the fourteenth renewal of the classic Massachusetts stake beside the derby race.

The weather was perfect, but the rain yesterday had left the track very heavy, particularly next to the pole.

37 Starters in Derby.

The thirty-seven starters in the Derby were at the post ten minutes before getting away to a perfect start. All eyes were centered on the Canadian wonder, The Eel, the scratch horse.

While fully as good as 6 to 1 could be secured that he would not win, his reputation and the disadvantage of having to overcome all of the big field placed in front of him, made him the popular favorite with the general public. Asa Wilkes, on the 2:09 mark, had been doped by the talent as the best proposition to bring home the money, his price being 4 to 1, and backed to 3 to 1 before the start.

McEwen soon had The Eeel at top speed, and, before reaching the first quarter the gray stallion had passed about fifteen of the field and was stepping a whirlwind clip clear on the outside of the track to avoid the horde of horses in front that were filling the course from the pole to way beyond the middle of the track.

Throws From Sulky.

It was when turning into the stretch Major Strong, in making a wild break, struck the sulky of Simon, throwing out Driver King and knocking Baron Whips against the fence. McEwen took his horse back to avoid going down in the crash.

At the half, the position of the leaders was:

Dirl, two open lengths to the good; Dillon Queen second, and then Outcast, Frank S., Charley King, Gently, Chester A and Bard Allerton. Asa Wilkes was fourteenth and The Eel was fifteenth.

Dirl held command clear to the mile and one-eighth when the closing of the field to a bunch that swept clear across the track made it impossible to tell which of the number forged slightly ahead of him.

At the long-distance post, in the foremost rank was Bard Allerton, Cecilian King, Oakland Son, Frank S, Gentley and Charley King. The Eel was still rapidly creeping past horse after horse.

Sixty yards from the wire and Simon Kenton rushed into the lead, and the last struggle was on for the big end of the $15,000 purse.

Not To Be Denied.

Simon Kenton was not to be denied, and won by a length, the same distance lying between Bard Allerton and the Eel for second and third places.

It was found that in the collision where Driver Dan King was thrown from behind Simon he was severely injured. He was taken from the track unconscious, remaining so for nearly an hour.

For the Massachusetts $10,000 stake, the roan mare, Margin, in the string of Lon McDonald, was an odds-on favorite through her three stake winnings of this year. She won handily. Time, 2:08 3-4; 2:08 1-4.

In the other two races, Carroll, the Cleveland representative, had it easy in the 2:09 trot, and Rosemary Chimes, a New York mare, took the 2:16 trot after losing the opening heat to The Sailorman.

GERMAN YACHT WINS IN THIRD SONDER RACE

Captain Protzen Steers the Hevella to Victory.

Marblehead, Mass., September 2.—In the third of the International Sonder class races, the German challengers scored a victory. Captain Otto Protzen steering the Hevella twice around a triangular course, 7½ miles, today, with the same excellent judgment that he displayed three years ago, when he won a race here for the Roosevelt cup challengers, with the Wannssee. The Margarethe was second, while the Seehund II, the other German competitor, finished fourth.

The first of the American yachts to finish was the Wolf, in third place, but she was badly beaten by both the Hevella and Margarethe. Next came the Ellen, and trailing in the rear was the Joyette.

The result was a popular one, because the German yachtsmen have taken two severe beatings this week, and everyone sympathized with them somewhat because they swallowed their chagrin without a whimper.

Tomorrow the six boats will meet over a windward or leeward course and return. Should either of the three winners to date take the fourth race, only those three will fight it out for the Taft cup Monday, the victor in that day's encounter taking the trophy, irrespective of whether she has won two races or one previously.

CURTISS WILL FLY IN BRESCIA RACES

The American Aviator Will Try for the Grand Prize.

Paris, September 2.—Glenn H. Curtiss has decided to take part in the flying machine races to be held at Brescia, Italy, beginning September 5. He will leave here Friday with C. F. Bishop, president of the American Aero Club. He will try for the grand prix, the distance of which has been reduced from 62 to 31 miles. Mr. Bishop said today that Curtiss had signed no contracts for flights in America.

Mr. Bishop, Mr. Curtiss and Edgar W. Mix, of Columbus, Ohio, made a successful balloon trip today of 48 miles. They came down in the department of Yonne.

ALBERT L. DUNN & SON TO HANDLE STEARNS CAR

Secure State Agency for the "Ultimate Car."

Messrs. Albert Dunn & Son have secured the agency for the state of Georgia for the Stearns automobile.

The Stearns enjoys the distinction of being one of the most popular cars in the state, and while having a list of achievements to its credit, is, perhaps, best remembered locally as twice the winner of the Atlanta hill-climb contests.

Mr. Dunn is quite enthusiastic over their prospects with the Stearns, and says:

"Some of the most prominent people in the state are owners of this elegant make of automobile."

The owners of Stearns cars today are, as a rule, those who own or have owned several cars, who have graduated from low-priced cars to realize their ideal in the Stearns. By the process of elimination it gains the title of the "ultimate car," as it is the ultimate choice of the post-graduate motorist.

Messrs. Dunn & Son will make their headquarters at 112 East Ellis. They are open for negotiation for the establishment of agencies in some of the larger cities of the state. Mr. Walter Dunn leaves this week for the factory for a two weeks' stay.

The 1910 model will not arrive before the latter part of this month. Correspondence can reach them through P. O. box 657.

DR. COOK LECTURED IN GEORGIA TOWNS

North Pole Discoverer Has Been Here and May Come Again.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the first man to discover the North Pole, has lectured in Georgia and will probably do so again in Atlanta and other southern cities next year under the Alkahest Lyceum System. That the people in this section will hear this noted explorer once more seems almost a certainty.

Dr. Cook was in Georgia on a lecture tour in 1901-1902 and delivered the following illustrated lectures, "Towards the North Pole," "Climbing Mt. McKinley," "Towards the South Pole."

He was heard at Barnesville, Dublin Indian Springs and other Georgia cities.

Dr. Cook now owes the Alkahest Lecture System eight lectures, and when he gives these he will come south and speak about his dash to the North Pole and tell of the wonderful adventures he had in exploring the White World of the North Frigid Zone.

There are several Georgians who know well the North Pole discoverer and have had personal talks with him on his voyages to the scenes of perpetual ice and snow.

If Dr. Cook comes south, and to Georgia, he will be given as warm a welcome here as he was given a cold one at the north end of the earth.

The Alkahest Lecture System will communicate with Dr. Cook as soon as possible with a view of arranging dates with him for the eight lectures which he is to deliver.

WORLD ACCLAIMS DARING DR. COOK

to meet Dr. Cook, who is on his way here on the steamer Hans Egede. The Danish government tonight dispatched torrpedo boat Jutland from Aaahurgte to meet Dr. Cook, aand the Jutland will probably come across the Hans Egede off The Skaw. The commander will convey congratulations to the explorer in behalf of the government.

The special committee of the Royal Geographical Society will invite Dr. Cook to be the society's guest during his stay at Copenhagen. Rooms have been reserved for him at the Hotel Phoenix.

UNITED STATES PREPARING OVATION FOR POLAR EXPLORER

New York, September 2.—Preparations are already afoot here to make the home-coming of Dr. Frederick A. Cook an event of national and possibly international importance. If the plans outlined today by members of the Arctic Club are carried out, the welcome Dr. Cook will receive in New York will be an ovation in which city, state and nation will take part, while prominent explorers—Cook's former rivals—from all parts of the globe, will gather to pay their personal tribute to his achievement.

Shackleton to Greet Cook.

Among the most notable of those who in all probability will be here to greet Dr. Cook on his return will be Lieutenant Shackleton, the intrepid Englishman, whose reent explorations in the Antarctic, during which he succeeded in pushing nearer to the South Pole than hafi any previous explorer, made him a figure of world-wide prominene.

Members of the Arctic Club hope that President Taft may himself be present as the nation's representative to welcome Dr. Cook.

"Such an honor would be more than fitting," one of them declared today, "in view of the fact that the explorer has placed the Stars and Stripes on the apex of the earth."

Among the explorers who are expected to take a prominent part in the welcome to Dr. Cook are the Duke of the Abruzzi, Dr. Fritjof Nansen, Captain Roald Amundsen, General A. W. Greely, Rear Admiral George Melville and Anthony Fiala, of this city.

Cook Soon Due in Copenhagen.

No definite date has yet been set for Dr. Cook's arrival here. Captain Bradley S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club, said tonight that the explorer is not expected for several weeks.

"He is due in Copenhagen in three days," says Captain Osbon, "and if he came straight home would arrive in New York about the middle of September, but his friends believe that he may make several stops on the way home. For one thing, the geographers and scientists of Copenhagen will tender him a welcome. He may go to Christiania to meet Captain Amundsen, the discoverer of the Northwest Passage, and it is likely he will visit Belgium, where he has been decorated for his services to science, and it is scarcely conceivable that the British geographical societies would allow him to pass them by on his way home without an invitation to London."

COOK GRASPED RIGHT IDEA AND THEN PUSHED POLEWARD

Washington, N. J., September 2.—Dr. Thomas Dederick, who was a surgeon with the Peary Arctic expedition in 1898-1902 and lived for a year with the Esquimos at Etah, Greenland, said today that Dr. Cook, in reaching the North Pole by the west coast of Ellesmere Land, had chosen the most feasible route.

Dr. Dederick said:

"Dr. Cook's Polar expedition is remarkable, not only for its results, but for its utilization of the most practicable plan. His grasp of the fact that I have advocated—that a man with Esquimos can live indefinitely on the west coast of Ellesmere Land and come out at any point he chooses, shows Dr. Cook's knowledge of Arctic conditions.

"I know Esquimos who left Etah and lived nine years on the west coast at different points each year. Cook grasped the right idea. Not only so, but he bent all his energies poleward."

GOLD MEDAL TO BE GIVEN COOK BY ITALIAN GEOGRAPHERS

Rome, September 2.—The members of the Italian Geographical Society are highly gratified at Dr. Cook's reported discovery of the pole. As soon as the president of the society, Marquis Cappelli, returns to Rome the society will give to Dr. Cook its gold medal. This honor was conferred upon the Duke of the Abruzzi and Lieutenant Shackleton. Dr. Cook will be requested to come to Rome to lecture on his trip before King Victor Emmanuel and the queen, as did the Duke of the Abruzzi.

Commander Cagni, the only member of the Abruzzi expedition to reach 88 degrees 3 minutes north, is delighted with Dr. Cook's triumph. He said the success of the American was a triumph in which the entire civilized world could take pride.

"ALL HONOR TO DR. COOK," SAY THE FRENCH SCIENTISTS

Paris, September 2.—The news was received with the greatest interest by the members of the French Geographical Society, one of them said:

"Dr. Cook apparently has succeeded where others failed. His success depended on the condition of the atmosphere and the positions of the glaciers, which up to the present time have jealously stayed the advance of man. Dr. Cook's record should determine whether or not there is a flattening of the earth at the pole, and verify the mathematical situation of the polar star at the zenith."

Pierre Levasseur, the French geographer, was delighted when informed of Dr. Cook's achievement.

"All honor to Dr. Cook," he exclaimed. "I now await other details. Do islands exist in the Arctic ocean beyond the 85th degree, and is the pole on one of these islands? I hope we will have answers to these questions. But, in any event, there probably will be little occasion to change the map of the world.

"Dr. Cook's achievement is most extraordinary. It seems that he made a journey of over 300 miles on the ice, and the temperature he met, 83 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, is the lowest ever recorded. We undoubtedly will be astonished when we compare Cook's records with the reckonings of others."

DANISH EXPLORER CONFIRMS STORY TOLD BY DR. COOK.

London, September 2.—A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Copenhagen says that Knud Rasmusen, the Danish explorer who now is making ethnographical studies in North Greenland, met Dr. Cook at Cape York.

Rasmusen's mother was an Eskimo woman and he speaks the language fluently. He had a long conversation with two Eskimos who accompanied Dr. Cook to the pole. They confirmed every detail by Dr. Cook.

The foregoing presumably was telegraphed to Copenhagen from Lerwick.

COOK'S STORY CORROBORATED BY OFFICIALS OF GREENLAND.

Washington, September 2.—Maurice F. Egan, the United States minister at Copenhagen, has telegraphed the state department that Dr. Cook's reported discovery of the North Pole has been corroborated by Dergaard Jensen, Danish inspector of North Greenland.

TERRITORY ABOUT THE POLE BELONGS TO UNITED STATES

St. Louis, Mo., September 2.—All new territory discovered by Dr. Frederick A. Cook when he reache dthe North Pole will belong to the United States by right of discovery, according to the Rev. C. M. Charropin, S. J., professor of astronomy at St. Louis university.

Father Charropin today said Dr. Cook's statements will be accepted by scientists, who will attempt to confirm them.

LIEUT. SHACKLETON BELIEVES COOK'S STORY OF POLAR DASH

London, September 2.—After reading a brief summary of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's account of his dash to the North Pole, Lieutenant Ernest H. Shackleton, who recently led an expedition to the South Pole regions, said today that nobody had any right to be skeptical.

There was nothing in the explorer's statement but what was perfectly possible after he got within 200 miles of the pole, and after reaching the pole and after getting back to solid land there was nothing to prevent Dr. Cook living with the Eskimos until this year.

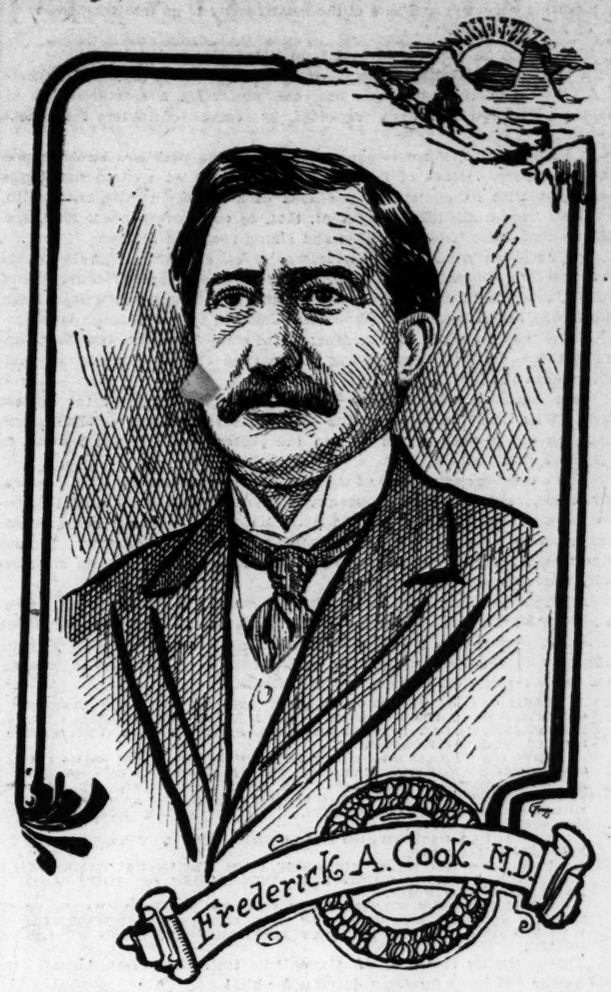
"Consequently," the lieutenant continued, "I don't think the time it took him to return is against his statement. The question is, what distance was he actually from the pole when he started with his Eskimos. He must have done 12 miles a day to cover the distance given in thirty-five days. No other expedition has been able to do anything near this. In the north one or two miles a day is considered good progress, but Cook must have traveled over absolutely smooth ice, which is a condition that is unique."

EXPLORER COOK IS ACCUSED OF VIOLATING POLAR ETHICS.

Portland, Oregon, September 2.—Dr. L. O. Wolfe, surgeon with Lieutenant Robert E. Peary's expedition in 1905-06, while in no way disparaging Dr. Cook's achievement, is inclined to criticise him for his alleged use of a portion of the route which Peary had been working out.

Dr. Wolfe declared Dr. Cook violated the ethics of Polar expeditions. He asserts that Dr. Cook should have followed a route of his own. Dr. Wolfe asserted the dash was not taken at a time unusual for Arctic pole-chasers. The date of reaching the pole is placed by Dr. Cook as April 21, 1908. Dr. Wolfe cites the fact that Peary reached his farthest north April 26, the Duke of the Abruzzi, April 25; Nansen, April 7, and Peary again in 1902, April 21.

HE PIERCED THE FROZEN NORTH



ADMIRAL MELVILLE BRANDS NORTH POLE STORY A FAKE

Philadelphia, September 2.—"After reading the dispatches today, I am more convinced than ever that the reported discovery of the North Pole is a fake," was the emphatic declaration of Rear Admiral George Melville, United States army (retired), who is intimate with the northern regions and is familiar with the progress of expeditions thither within the last forty years.

"I don't mean to say that Dr. Cook is a fakir. I do not know him personally. But from my experiences I would say that there is nothing to confirm the original dispatches. Some of the best equipped expeditions have cost from $150,000 to $200,000. I know that Dr. Cook had no such outfit.

"There is nothing in the story thus far told to indicate that Dr. Cook has found anything new. Indeed, I cannot see why the reported story of his expedition could not have been written by any one who had reached within 100 miles of the pole. I could sit in my office and invent observations of all sorts. Yet, no one can positively deny the truthfulnes of Dr. Cook's story. I have heard that the Royal Geographic Society is reported to have discredited it. If this is so, I will reiterate more strongly than ever that while Dr. Cook may have discovered the North Pole, it being a possibility, yet it is highly improbable.

"According to Dr. Cook's story, no mention is made of the travel from April 14 to April 21, 1908. His bearings on the former date were, it is reported, 88 degrees, 21 minutes north latitude; roughly speaking, a distance of about 100 miles remained before him after April 14.

"An average of about 14 miles per day thereafter must have been maintained. It was my experience in the Jeanette expedition retreat (1878-81) that after marching 30 miles one day, we found we had actually gone 2½ miles.

"The drift of the ice was in an opposite direction.

"The talk of having killed musk oxen is not new. These animals were killed years ago. The apparent ease of Dr. Cook's travel under the pole is what inclines me strongly to discredit the story. With a pack of good dogs and sleds in Siberia, over smooth snow, the best distance I ever made was 50 miles a day. Ice travel is much more difficult."

Garber in Trouble.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—(Special.)—Attorney General A. M. Garber is in a stew. Hardly had he returned from the festivities of the attorney generals' meeting in the wine-drinking east, before the question of whether or not folks could make wine from their own grapes for their own use stared him in the face in an inquiry from a frantic householder. The outlook, from a Fuller bill standpoint, is that the right so to do has been taken away. "I have some friends who make wine of this kind," said the general, "and I am anxious to know what can be done." At the same time he found a letter from Brooks Lawrence, the anti-saloon man, wanting advice on something in the laws, or at least a letter from another man inclosing a letter from Lawrence, and that was the finish of the well-fed man from Talladega. "What is the use?" he said. He closed up his desk and went out to see S. P. Kennedy.

McNeill Working for Elliott.

Macon, Ga., September 2.—(Special.) W. D. McNeill, attorney for Dr. J. M. Elliott, the veterinary surgeon who was condemned to death for having shot and killed George Rivers, a boarding house keeper in LaGrange a year ago, will take up the question of having the sentence commuted to life imprisonment before the prison commission next week. The matter was to have been heard this week, but on account of illness of Attorney McNeill, the appeal was delayed. Elliott has had one respite, but is now under sentence to be hanged.

German Diplomat to Die.

Santiago, Chile, September 2.—Beckert, the former chancellor of the German legation here, has been condemned to death by the court of first instance on the charge of having murdered an employee of the legation on February 5, last, and set fire to the legation offices. The trial was held under the laws of Chile.

MRS. COOK AND BABIES KISSED PICTURE OF COOK EVERY NIGHT

New York, Sept. 2.—Mrs. Cook, wife of the discoverer of the pole, heard from her husband last about a year ago through a member of the Peary relief expedition. Although she was anxious concerning Dr. Cook's whereabouts, she never lost confidence in him, and before starting for Maine in June she told friends she felt she would soon hear he had been successful.

"My husband never believed in sensationalism," Mrs. Cook said of him in an interview before she left the city for the summer, and his feeling against Peary was pronounced. He saw Peary's work in Greenland and didn't like the way he treated the natives.

"When he had a chance to come home Dr. Cook refused to do so. Instead of returning with Peary he determined to make a solitary effort to gain the pole. He walked three days to get to a place where he could send a letter to me. In the letter, which he asked me to keep secret, he told me he would reach the north pole or die in the attempt.

"He said that one man with determination and the genuine love and regard of the natives could do more than whole expeditions. That was the last I heard of him. But I knew that if I did not get news of his success I would hear from him."

Mrs. Cook's youngest daughter does not remember ever having seen her father. On the wall of the Brooklyn flat in which Mrs. Cook lives with the children there hung, low on the wall, a photograph of Dr. Cook and it was one of the bedtime rites of the children to kiss the picture.

"I do it," explained Mrs. Cook at that time, "because I know positively that my husband will succeed. It may take him a year, but I don't want the children to forget him."

Mrs. Cook during the absence of her husband, sold the family residence in Brooklyn and made many other sacrifices to keep her family together. Her worries during the last few months have been great.

"Some of the money I invested I lost," said Mrs. Cook, "but my husband is making sacrifices, I know, and I am going to do all I can to keep a little home ready for him when he gets back."

WE WILL ANNEX POLE, LAUGHS SECRETARY KNOX.

Beverly, Mass., September 2.—Neither the president nor Secretary Knox would discuss the reported discovery of the North Pole. When the secretary was asked as to etiquette of what the state department ought to do with the pole under the circumstances, he laughingly replied: "Annex it, of course."

Investigating Pellagra.

Montgomery, Ala., September 2.—(Special.)—A full and complete investigation of the malady called pellagra is to be made by the state department of health. Blanks are being sent out by W. R. Brassell, chief clerk to State Health Officer Dr. W. H. Sanders, on which doctors in every part of the state will make report of all cases under their observation. Every doctor will receive these blanks, so that not a part of the state will be left without reports being made.

Accompanying the papers is a circular containing all the information that can be gathered about the disease, with every report so far made from any county. It is estimated that within the past twelve months there have been over one hundred cases reported, with twenty-seven deaths. The department of health has two or three cases under observation and every step of the malady is being carefully noted. It is hoped that something can be done to find out the nature and progress of the plague.

Ill Health Caused Suicide.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., September 2.—Colonel George N. Reichard, a veteran of the civil war, bank officer and identified with many business enterprises in the Wyoming valley, and very wealthy, committed suicide today by shooting. Ill health probably prompted the act.

HOW DEATH "AMBUSCADES" ATLANTA DINING TABLES.

"Flies, with death on their feet, swarming and crawling, literally covering shoulders and cuts of the meat shortly to go into the homes of Atlanta people."

That is not an excerpt, adapted from Upton Sinclair's "Jungle."

It is a plain narrative of actual conditions in one of the meat markets of Atlanta, a highly respectable one, and presenting a spectacle that is, doubtless, duplicated, or even exceeded, by dozens of others throughout the city.

It is instructive, if somewhat appalling, reading that Mr. Jacobson presents elsewhere. Heads of families in Atlanta will do well to familiarize themselves with its contents. It speaks of a menace to life and health, verifiable from a scientific standpoint, that, as our correspondent says, actually "ambuscades" the "kitchens and dining rooms of this city."

Mr. Jacobson details his observations in an eminently high-class local meat market. Common house flies, proved and thrice-proved conveyors of typhoid, tuberculosis and other germ diseases, were trailing their feet, laden with deadly bacilli, over the food-products destined for surrounding homes.

There was no effort at screening; no attempt to protect the meat consumed thrice daily by unsuspecting people from the infected feet of numberless crawling flies.

This condition obtains in an establishment presumably of the highest class. What must be the condition in the dozens of lesser establishments supplying the negroes of the city, or the poorer class of whites living in congested districts?

The murderous culpability of the house fly is no longer an open question. Physicians, anxious to warn humanity against his apparently trivial activities, have dubbed him the "typhoid fly." Hatched in compost heaps in stables, upon foul garbage dumps in nearby or outlying districts, and in filth of an unspeakable nature, he issues forth upon his cheerful mission of potentially wholesale slaughter.

From his breeding place he will carry thousands of disease germs. That is not the worst of it. He will, with the industry and pertinacity for which he is remarkable, visit premises in every neighborhood, PERHAPS YOURS, infected with diphtheria, typhoid fever, tuberculosis, a half dozen other maladies which register their annual toll in thousands.

EACH ONE OF HIS SPONGE-LIKE FEET DRAWS TO ITSELF CLUSTERS OF THESE GERMS, INVISIBLE TO THE NAKED EYE, BUT STANDING OUT IN INNUMERABLE PROPORTION UNDER THE EYE OF THE MICROSCOPE.

NOW HE TRANSFERS HIS SCENE OF ACTION. HE MAKES A CROW-FLIGHT FOR THE MARKET TO WHICH HIS KEEN SCENT ATTRACTS HIM. HERE HE PASSES THE BARRIERS OF CONSTANTLY OPENING DOOR AND WINDOW SCREENS AND SETTLES DOWN UPON THE MEATS SHORTLY TO BE SENT INTO YOUR HOUSEHOLD.

A POPULAR CATCHWORD CALLS HIM "THE FLY THAT DOES NOT WIPE HIS FEET."

BUT HE DOES WIPE HIS FEET. HE CLEANSES THEM ON THE FOOD THAT IS GOING INTO THE HOMES OF HIGH AND LOW, RICH AND POOR.

EACH TIME HIS FILTHY FOOT EXECUTES A MOVEMENT, IT LEAVES AN INVISIBLE TRAIL OF THE GERMS OF WHATEVER MAN-SLAYING DIEASE HE MAY HAVE ENCOUNTERED ON HIS ROUTE.

This is the fly that does not "wipe" its feet! Too often, human lives and human efficiency furnish a doormat for him!

We have rigid milk and food inspection in Atlanta, as a broad rule.

What about these meat markets? We have forced them to abandon the murderous and repellent practice of letting cuts of meat sway on the outside of their shops.

WHAT IS THE GAIN IN THIS SUPERFICIAL PRECAUTION WHEN THE SAME MEATS ON THE INSIDE ARE ABSOLUTELY EXPOSED TO THE ACTIVITIES OF THE "TYPHOID FLY?"

WE SHOULD HAVE RIGID AND MERCILESS ENFORCEMENT OF A LAW COMPELLING, UNDER HEAVY PENALTIES, EVERY BIT OF FOODSTUFF IN ATLANTA TO BE SCRUPULOUSLY AND CONTINUALLY SCREENED.

What says the board of health to these "ambuscades" of Atlanta's homes?

ATLANTA HAS OUTGROWN HER CLOTHES.

The fact that Atlanta's development shows nothing of a mushroom or bloated growth, but, on the other hand, proceeds from substantial and permanent commercial success, makes it all the more imperative that no essential preparation or precaution for the protection of property and the preservation of health shall be omitted or ignored.

In addition to broken sewers, dangerous sewage outflows, thousands upon thousands of waterless and sewerless homes, inadequate school facilities and other shortcomings, this necessity is again forcibly stressed by the report of the National Board of Fire Underwriters relative to the needs of Atlanta's water and fire departments to enable them to provide ample and adequate protection against fire losses.

It is not necessary to go into the details of this report, which has been published in The Constitution, and many of whose recommendations, particularly those relating to the extension of the water service, have been urged by this paper and by department officials, day in and day out, now for some years past.

It is but further confirmation of the fact—cumulative evidence—that Atlanta is an overgrown child whose clothes no longer fit.

Municipal departments, many of them whose growth has not kept pace with that of the city, are not now equal to the task of meeting the demands of rapidly accumulating population and congested business.

The fault is one not of municipal administration, but of inadequacy of revenue; Atlanta has not and cannot get, through her ordinary sources of income, sufficient cash to meet the expenses which a rapidly growing population involves.

The limit of the city's power of taxation has long since been reached; other sources of income have diminished rather than increased.

But expenses have increased and will mount still higher as new areas are incorporated within the city limits.

Atlanta's income today is barely sufficient for the maintenance of her municipal departments and institutions.

When income is absorbed by maintenance there is but one solution of the problem of extension—a bond issue.

There is no other way around it; Atlanta must come to that solution of this problem before emergency becomes disaster.

First and foremost, there is to consider protection to life and health, which are intimately involved in the extension of the sewerage and water systems.

But additional reasons for prompt and adequate action in the direction of extension are constantly appearing.

The significance of the fire underwriters' report and the recommendations made therein cannot be ignored.

Atlanta must furnish adequate fire protection or her property owners must pay the price of neglect in increased insurance premiums.

Thus, by the extension of the water system alone can three important ends be accomplished:

First, better protection of health.

Second, removal in great degree of the danger of increased insurance rates.

Third, the acquirement of added income, which will not only take care of the waterworks investment, but of others as well.

It does not take an adept in the art of business to figure out what folly there would be in neglecting a substantial revenue-producing investment that will solve pressing municipal problems while it is bringing cash into the treasury.

A bond issue, the proceeds of which are judiciously expended, is an investment that pays its own way.

And in the case of the Atlanta waterworks it will pay its way in actual cash, as it has been doing since the city has owned it.

It is time Atlanta were putting on a new dress, or continued bursting of the buttons from crowding of the garment will leave her in a state of exposure to grave dangers already imminent.

THE PUBLIC SPIRIT OF MR. ANSLEY.

Public spirit of the constructive brand, the sort that has invariably been characteristic of Atlanta's growth, was exemplified by Edwin P. Ansley in his voluntary service with regard to the extension of the Butler street sewer.

Mr. Ansley is entitled to the gratitude not only of the citizens in the large territory immediately involved, but as well of the people of all Atlanta, since the conditions that menaced that portion of the city likewise jeopardized the health of every man, woman and child in the corporate limits.

The fine initiative of this prominent Atlantan is on a par with the inspiring civic attitude of Mr. Hugh T. Inman, when the latter solved a bad municipal tangle by assuming responsibility for the purchase of the new pump for the waterworks department.

In agreeing to furnish the material for this urgent sewer extension, Mr. Ansley has done a substantial service to the city; better still is the spirit his action denotes in the possession of a citizenship always ready to transmute its patriotism into tangible and needed works.

AMERICA'S FLAG AT THE NORTH POLE.

Has Frederick A. Cook, American, read the riddle of the centuries by reaching the north pole?

The ultimate answer must be delayed until qualified scientific authority has given its definite approval to the mathematical and geographical data with which he will be called upon to sustain his claim.

Meanwhile, the man's known personal integrity and the circumstantial story he has already told are such as to cast all the balance of probability upon the side of veracity for his wonderful narrative.

If the evidence proffered by this intrepid American Columbus of the twentieth century stands the test, then history must make for him and the nation of which he is a native a place high among the seats of the mighty in the story of the race.

To reach the north pole! That has been the Tantalus Cup of brave men in all climes and in every age since man's mind was able to turn from the more practical task of plotting out the new worlds more easily accessible than that frozen region which terminates in the dip of the great flattened orange we call the earth.

The lure, as irresistible as the summons of the Lorelei, has drawn to graves of ice and snow and chilly waters a long, thin line of explorers, men in whose hearts beat high the courage with which humanity has wrought civilization out of desolation and chaos.

Slowly, and with a usurious toll of blood and treasure, the globe on which we live has yielded up its secrets, its mountainous and jungle and tropic recesses, reserving only in baffling mystery its two nethermost portions.

But a few months ago an Englishman brought back the startling story that he had penetrated within 111 miles of the south pole.

Meanwhile, in the forbidding north were two Americans, Cook and Peary, both of them veterans, groping and struggling toward the antipodal goal toward which the wondering imagination of the world has long been directed.

And now comes news that Cook has conquered, that through struggles and hardships and bitter, gruelling experiences that sound like the old Sagas with which the Norsemen used to school their youth in fortitude, he has battled his way to that point farthest north, where, however one turns, the prospect is always south and where he may divide the abode of all living creatures with the small span of his own body.

"Chiefly sentimental" will be the value placed upon an epochal exploit by men of material mold, in whose blood does not speed, though latent, the instinct of conquest and of priority that has eternally despised old boundaries.

Sentimental, perhaps. But is it not sentiment informing and vivifying those great crises and mighty and sudden changes by which men in the mass have always gone forward? And is not that sentiment worth while that gives to the most powerful nation of the new world the distinction of planting its emblem upon that icy wilderness that has long piqued the speculation of earth's bravest?

POSTOFFICE IN NEED OF BUSINESS METHODS.

If all of the postoffices in the United States, or any considerable number of the larger ones, could show anything like the percentage of increased business the Atlanta office has recently produced, Postmaster General Hitchcock would never have had to report a deficit of $20,000,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, the largest in the department's history.

It is the Atlanta office and others like it which keep the deficit from growing even larger.

There is evidently something wrong with the business system of the postoffice department when congress has to appropriate $20,000,000 in a single year to meet expenses in excess of its receipts.

It is indicative rather of the lack of any business system at all.

Mr. Hitchcock makes no attempt to conceal this departmental inadequacy, but, on the other hand, announces that he proposes to institute a revisional investigation, which shall have for its purpose the paring down of expenses wherever wasteful methods are apparent, and the introduction of more business-like methods in the various branches of the department.

It was Mr. Harriman, of railroad financial fame, who criticised the absence of business principles in the conduct of American government.

As if in substantiation of his charges, there comes now report of the most magnificent postal deficit the country has ever known.

It looks as if a concern operated at an expense of approximately $200,000,000 a year could come somewhere nearer cutting its garment according to the cloth.

The Constitution pointed out a year ago one of the most prolific sources of drain upon the national postoffice department—the abuse of the congressional franking privilege.

Mr. Hitchcock refers to this fact and has apparently reached the conclusion that here is where some of the paring down in expense must be done. He admits, practically, that it is impossible to ascertain just what this privilege and the abuses of it cost the department annually.

But can Mr. Hitchcock bring about any material degree of reform in this respect without the consent of congress, whose members are the beneficiaries of the privilege? It is doubtful. Unless congress itself, yielding to unquestioned public duty, cuts off the bulk of this expense, it will continue to hang as a millstone about the neck of the department, as it has done for years.

Mr. Hitchcock talks of possible reduction of expenditure in connection with the rural free delivery service, but readily realizes that it will not do to interfere in any degree with the efficiency of this important and popular institution. No branch of the department is giving more essential or satisfactory service, and it must, of course, be maintained.

It will require no small amount of ingenuity to bring about a $20,000,000 reduction in the annual expenses of the postoffice department.

There are other difficulties than those mentioned to be met, but that the application of well-known business principles will go a long way toward bringing expense and income accounts into closer accord cannot be doubted.

Mr. Hitchcock's efforts in this direction will attract a national interest strongly intensified by a national hope.

"DEATH ON THE FEET OF MEAT-SWARMING FLIES"

John F. Jacobson, Atlantan, Visits an Atlanta Market and Shows How Death and Disease May Enter Atlanta Homes.

Editor Constitution: Today I visited a place where death and disease is incubated to be scattered among the homes of Atlanta. I cannot doubt that the city is too well supplied with similar or worse centers of infection.

I had occasion to enter one of the highest-class meat markets in Atlanta this morning. It is situated in one of the most respectable portions of the city, and caters to the supposedly most exacting and intelligent portion of our population.

The sights I saw would have sickened a second Upton Sinclair, in search for sensational material for a second "Jungle."

Flies, with death on their feet, swarming and crawling, literally covering shoulders and cuts of the meat shortly to go into the homes of Atlanta people.

Not just three or four of these little messengers of typhoid, tuberculosis, dysentery and other diseases.

But hosts upon hosts of them, trailing their germ-laden legs and feet upon the food products destined for the stomachs of Atlanta's men, women and children.

On last Sunday I read with intense interest the article in your paper in which the menace of the "insignificant" fly is painted as blacker than the lion, the elephant, the serpent.

I have followed with growing approval your long and consistent campaign for sanitary conditions in this city.

Now, if there is anything at all in the theory that the house fly is the vehicle for every variety, practically, of germ diseases, what was to prevent that especial market from becoming a sure, if unconscious, distributing center for diseases, attacking the health of the people three times daily upon their dining tables?

If this unspeakable condition prevails in a well-kept and respectable market, what about the countless number of odoriferous "joints" that serve the negroes, or the extreme poor of the city?

What is the use of our people expending their money for screens and garbage cans and of exerting the most scrupulous efforts to keep their homes clean and hygienic, when death and sickness threatens them from a direction of which most of them are ignorant?

Why don't you take up this matter and agitate, agitate, agitate, until butchers and grocers are FORCED BY LAW TO SCREEN THE SMALLEST OF THEIR FOOD PRODUCTS?

IT IS HARD ENOUGH FOR THE PEOPLE OF ATLANTA TO COMBAT THE MURDERERS OF HEALTH THAT FACE THEM FROM THE FRONT. WHAT ABOUT THOSE THAT AMBUSCADE THEM IN THEIR KITCHENS AND DINING ROOMS?

JOHN F. JACOBSON.

Atlanta, Ga., September 2, 1909.

Lovett Chosen Director.

New York, September 2.—R. S. Lovett, vice president of the Union Pacific railroad, was today elected a director of the New York, Susquehanna and Western road to succeed J. N. Hill.

'You are surely high enough now, in all conscience,' they said, but Ella answered that she had borrowed the motto of Kansas. 'To the stars through difficulties,' was her reply, and she grew harder than ever. She received discouragement instead of applause; her father complained bitterly because he always had to be altering his plans of the house, and her mother railed because she had to use a stepladder when she buttoned Ella's waist, but the indomitable girl kept on with her work until she reached her present height, and then it became evident that if she grew any more she would interfere with the airship traffic, so she ceased growing."

GOV. BROWN COMMENDED ON MITCHELL CASE DECISION

Governor Brown received yesterday a large number of letters and telegrams from all sections of the state strongly commending his action in upholding the sentence imposed by the court in the case of W. H. Mitchell, of Thomasville, convicted of assault and battery upon Miss Lucile Linton and sentenced to serve twelve months on the Thomas county chaingang.

These communications came from some of the most prominent citizens of the state and voiced their sentiments in the strongest terms.

One well-known south Georgian, who, prompted by sympathy, had signed a petition asking for clemency in Mitchell's case, wired that he could not withhold his approval of the governor's action, although he felt the deepest sympathy for the prisoner and members of his family.

A number of people in and around Atlanta also telephoned the governor their congratulations.

One of the most strongly-worded telegrams received came from Thomas E. Watson, at Thomson. Mr. Watson said:

"I must heartily congratulate you on your decision in the Mitchell case. It was high time the country was being assured that there is not one sort of law for the friendless poor man and another kind of law for the criminal who has influential connections."

Officials at the capitol generally express the view that Governor Brown took decidedly the right step in the Mitchell case.

Not Ordered to Jail.

Publications in certain papers have attempted to convey the impression that Governor Brown has directed Sheriff Singletary, of Thomas county, to confine Mitchell in jail, which would, in effect, be a change of the sentence as imposed by the court.

This is incorrect. Governor Brown has not given Sheriff Singletary any instructions to this effect, but has merely notified him, as is customary in such cases, that he has declined to interfere with the sentence of the court.

This notification on the governor's part simply puts it up to the officials of Thomas county to carry out the court's sentence, which is confinement upon the chaingang.

If Mitchell is too ill to work, the county officials will, no doubt, see to it that proper care is taken of him until he recovers. That is also a matter with which they must deal.

The governor's notification that he has declined to interfere with the sentence of the court means nothing more nor less than that the court's sentence must be carried out.

NEW COTTON OIL MILL IS ERECTED AT MONROE

One of the Few Fire-Proof Mills in the South---Organized in Atlanta.

The Monroe Oil and Fertilizer Company, with an extensive plant at Monroe, Walton county, was organized in Atlanta yesterday.

This corporation, which numbers among its incorporators and directors some of the strongest men in Walton county and Atlanta, is capitalized at $50,000, fully paid in. The plant is just completed, and is fire-proof throughout. It is one of the largest and most complete in the south, and begins its season most auspiciously prepared to gin cotton, crush cotton seed, make stock feed and commercial fertilizers.

The officers of this company, as elected, were: C. T. Mobley, president and treasurer; W. H. Nunnally, vice president, and J. F. Preston, cashier, all of Monroe, Walton county.

The directors named were: C. T. Mobley, W. H. Nunnally, A. C. Kelly of Monroe, and L. A. Ransom and W. M. Hutchinson, of Atlanta.

The incorporators named in the charter by the Walton superior court were: C. T. Mobley, W. H. Nunnally, B. S. Walker, A. C. Kelly, J. M. Day, W. C. Wright, J. R. Nunnally, J. R. Radford, G. W. Peters, R. L. Newell and W. H. Nunnally Company.

This is one of the few fire-proof plants in the south, and its incorporators believe that the company has been launched high on the sea of success.

Eyeglasses That Stay On

Many people have trouble in keeping eyeglasses on, specially in warm weather. We have given this point careful study and have had long, practical experience. Although we have every style of guard and device of value made for holding eyeglasses in place, we sometimes find it necessary to especially design guards, in particularly difficult cases. It is seldom that we find a person whom we can not fit satisfactorily with noseglasses. Do not be discouraged. Give us the opportunity to fit them.

HARRISON FOR COUNCIL FROM THE THIRD WARD

His Record Has Brought Him a Warm Support in His Ward.

Councilman J. C. Harrison has announced for council from the third ward, and he has done so both because he wishes to again serve his people and because a large number of citizens in his ward have urged him to do so.

Mr. Harrison has made an exceptionally good record during the term he is now serving. He has secured a great deal of public improvements, especially street work, for his ward, spending not only what was appropriated to his ward, but $900 more which he got from other wards by push and energy.

Recently the city charter was amended so as a councilman could succeed himself for one term, and this was done because it is well known that it takes a man about two years to "catch on," and that he is of great deal more value to the city the next two years.

Mr. Harrison's friends are confident of his election. They say that the city needs just such an energetic man in public service. He has been not only of high use to his own ward, but he has been a credit to the whole city.

It is believed by the time the primary comes off that he will not have any opposition.

FIERCE ENCOUNTER WITH NEGRO THIEF

Tift County Man Has Narrow Escape From Death While Bringing Negro to Town.

Tifton, Ga., September 2.—(Special.) While bringing a negro prisoner to Tifton this morning, Wilson Royals was turned upon and severely cut by the negro, and after Mr. Royals narrowly escaped with his life from a loaded shotgun, the prisoner got away.

The negro caught him off his guard and whirled upon him, jerking a knife from his pocket. Seizing Royals' shotgun with one hand the negro began slashing at him with his knife and caught him by the muscle of the left arm with his teeth, holding on with a bulldog tenacity.

The negro made a violent effort to get away, and brought the muzzle of the gun toward Mr. Royals' body, having the stock in his hand. Seeing his danger, Mr. Rovals released the gun and sprang behind a tree.

CHATTAHOOCHEE NORMAL

River Subsides After Peculiar Rise of Two Days Ago.

Columbus, Ga., September 2.—(Special.)—The Chattahoochee river has about resumed its normal stage after its rather remarkable stunt of Tuesday, when it rose rapidly and very unexpectedly at the Columbus wharf. This section of Georgia was as dry as a bone, and no reports had been received of any heavy rains in the upper portion of the state, and so the rise of ten or twelve feet was received with amazement.

The weather reports show that some little rain fell in Georgia and that, curiously enough, nearly all the precipitation occurred in the Chattahoochee river watershed, an extremely narrow shed, by the way. At Newnan there was a fall of nearly two inches and some rain also fell at West Point, and it was the combined result of these rains, all in the watershed, that caused the Chattahoochee to get on the near-flood stage at Columbus.

NO PURCHASE OF TERMINALS

No Money in Treasury for Purpose.

This Conclusion Is Presented in an Opinion Rendered to Gov. Brown by Attorney General Hart at the Request of the Governor.

There will be no purchase for the present of the 87 1-2 acres of land near Chattanooga for use as terminals for the Western and Atlantic railway, the purchase of which was authorized by the general assembly at its recent session, and for which the sum of $69,000 was appropriated.

The reason why the land cannot be bought at this time is that there is no money in the state treasury available for this purpose.

This conclusion was presented in an opinion rendered to Governor Brown yesterday by Attorney General Hart, in response to an inquiry from the former.

No Money in Treasury.

Judge Hart reaches the conclusion that, as there is only $160,000 in the treasury at the present time, and, as the state is behind about $2,000,000 with its payments upon the 1909 school appropriation, there is no money in the treasury with which the purchase of this land can now be made.

The only chance for the state to secure the land, therefore, is for the owners to renew and extend the options upon it until the money necessary to meet the payment comes into the treasury from taxes in December and January. Otherwise the indications are the deal is all off.

Governor Brown's Letter.

In his letter to Attorney General Hart on the subject, Governor Brown said:

"The legislature at its last session by resolution directed me as governor, upon the condition therein named, to pay $69,000 out of the treasury for the purchase of some vacant land near Chattanooga, in the state of Tennessee, 'for increasing the facilities of the Western and Atlantic railroad.' The purpose of the purchase is to use this land as a switch yard should the state desire to do so at the termination of its present lease, ten years hence. I am anxious to comply with the instructions of the legislature if there are any funds in the treasury available for that purpose. My information is that there is at present in the treasury the sum of approximately $160,000.

"The legislature of 1907-8 appropriated $2,250,000 for the common schools of this state for the year 1909. The state is short nearly $2,000,000 in meeting this appropriation.

"Under this statement of fact, would I be authorized to draw my warrant, and would the treasurer have authority to pay this $69,000 for the purchase of this vacant land, which we may possibly need for railroad purposes ten years hence?"

Judge Hart's View of It.

Replying to the foregoing, Judge Hart, after stating briefly the facts in the case, said:

"The legal question involved is: May the legislature of 1909 divert money which had been appropriated by the legislature of 1908 and on the faith of the appropriation the school teachers of the state entered into contracts with the boards of education of the counties of the state and actually performed the service of teaching of the state? The money now remaining in the treasury was raised by a special tax levy and for the support of the common schools of the state. See acts of the general assembly of Georgia 1907, page 25. The teachers of the state have performed the service upon the faith of that promise that it would be paid them for their services. The teachers have executed their part of this contract, and the state now owes them the money which it has pledged would be paid them. For a subsequent legislature to divert the money and apply it to a different purpose from that for which it was raised by taxation and pledged by the state, amounts substantially to the impairment of a contract, which is forbidden both by the constitution of this state and of the United States.

"In view of these conditions there is at present no money in the treasury which could legally be used for the purchase of the land in question."

ATLANTA MEN SPEAK AT MEETING IN ROME

Friends of the Berry School Hold an Enthusiastic Meeting.

At the close of the speaking resolutions were presented and adopted, expressing the confidence of the people of Rome in the school and requesting the Rome and Northern railroad to extend it every consideration possible in the condemnation proceedings for the purpose of getting a right-of-way through lands belonging to the school for the tracks of the railroad.

WESLEY MEMORIAL CHURCH IS NOW ALMOST COMPLETED

Wesley Memorial Institutional Church, Corner Auburn Avenue and Ivy Street.

The great institutional church, one of the Wesley Memorial Enterprises, is nearly completed. It is located at the corner of Auburn avenue and Ivy street, and is four stories high, not counting the basement.

Some time ago the Methodists of Georgia planned for such a central building in Atlanta, and the work was begun and has been rapidly pushed to completionn.

The Wesley Memorial Enterprises look not only to the central building, but there is a hospital, a girls' home and such other institutions for the development of the great work in hand. The hospital is open to all. The girls' home is to be an institution where young women of the state can find a place when they come to Atlanta.

In 1903 the movement to build a hospital and church in the center of Atlanta was started, and a lot was purchased and a temporary structure erected. A block from this site another lot was bought for the hospital. Since then the work has grown until the present handsome modern structure for the Institutional church is nearing completion.

The plan of the building includes an auditorium for large religious meetings; rooms for educational classes; rooms for physical recreation; an employment bureau, and a nursery for the care of children whose mothers go out to work.

In a letter sent out to subscribers, Major R. J. Guinn, president of the board of directors, says:

"By the first of September our great central building, in which all Georgia Methodists will find pride, will be under roof. This splendid structure, located in the very heart of the Capital City, will contain many of the institutional features of the church, and will afford a place of rest and recreation to our own people when passing through this city, and an inviting place of worship to the stranger within our gates. It will also be made especially attractive to the very large number of young men and women who come here from all sections, either as students or to engage in business; thus conserving much of the effective work of the church throughout the state, that but for this type of influence and organization would undoubtedly be lost. The doing of these things will demonstrate, as nothing will, the great saving and uplifting force of our great denomination."

GOSSIP AT THE CAPITOL

Commissioner of Agriculture T. G. Hudson returned yesterday from Denver, Col., where he attended the recent convention of the national food congress. State Chemist Stallings and Food Inspector Methvin also attended as delegates from Georgia.

"Everything indicated that the fight over the use of benzoate of soda as a food preservative has just begun," said Commissioner Hudson. "The resolution proposing to receive the report of the Remsen board of chemists favorable to the use of this chemical in small quantities, and to request that the department of agriculture make further investigation as to the effect of benzoate of soda on the human system was adopted by the close vote of 57 to 54. The minority, which was a large one, wanted to condemn the report of the Remsen board outright and to declare emphatically against the use of this chemical. It is a question which has the pure food men badly divided, and one which is by no means yet settled."

Referring to recent reports with reference to his future political plans, Commissioner Hudson said:

"The truth of the matter is, that I have not yet reached a decision as to whether I shall run for congress from the third, or offer again for commissioner of agriculture. There is plenty of time yet to determine the question, and I shall endeavor to reach a conclusion as speedily as possible. When I do, I shall make prompt announcement of it that there may be no doubt on the subject. But for the present the question is absolutely undetermined."

Increase Rate Asked.

The railroad commission heard argument yesterday on the petition of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad for permission to increase its rates on lumber from local points on its line to Savannah, to the rate permitted under the commission's standard tariff. Superintendent Thomas Purse, of the Savannah Board of Trade, was present to oppose the petition in the interests of Savannah lumber dealers. The commission heard the arguments, but postponed action for the purpose of securing additional information from the railroad company with regard to the amount of traffic handled. It is said the increased rate asked for by the railroad amounts to approximately $3 per car.

The commission set the petition of the patrons of the Atlanta Northern Railway Company for a decrease from 35 to 20 cents in the fare between Atlanta and Marietta, and for certain conveniences for the use of the passengers, for hearing on October 7.

The Ocilla Southern railway, running from Allapaha to Ocilla, was placed in passenger class E, which permits it to charge 4 cents per mile, and freight class D, which is the standard tariff with 50 per cent added.

The commission approved the sale of the Monticello telephone exchange to the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Court-martial at Savannah.

Under orders issued from the office of Adjutant General A. J. Scott, a courtmartial will be held in Savannah today, beginning at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of trying Private John A. Parker, of Troop A, first squadron cavalry, upon the charge of disobedience of orders to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

The specification is that Private Parker failed to respond to orders to assemble at the armory of his troop for riot duty at Clyde, in Bryan county, where the troop was sent for the purpose of protecting from the mob Brunswick McRae, charged with murder.

The officers before whom Private Parker will be tried are Lieutenant Colonel John G. Butler, Captains F. H. Marshall, E. F. Lovell and W. R. Dancy, Lieutenants W. B. Stillwell and R. V. Martin. Major Edward S. Elliott is directed to act as judge advocate.

Check for Georgia Team.

Adjutant General A. J. Scott yesterday received from the war department a check for $175, which is the third prize in class C at the national rifle contests recently held at Camp Perry, Ohio, and which was won by the Georgia team. The money will be distributed among the members of the Georgia team, giving them about $15 each.

The state department of agriculture yesterday issued a commission to J. D. Shaw as an inspector of cattle in Putnam county, where the "Anti-Tick Association" has been organized for the purpose of getting rid of the cattle tick, and with it the Texas fever.

Putnam proposes to clean the tick out of that county, and four inspectors will be put on the job. Two of these will be employed and paid by the Anti-Tick Association, one will be supplied by the state, and another will be sent there by the national department of agriculture.

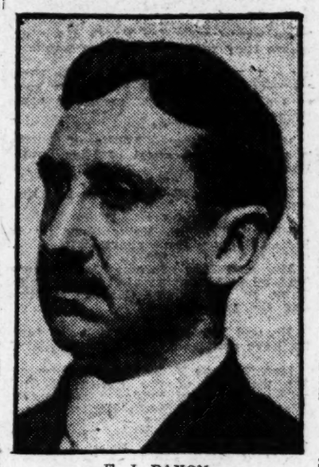
PLANS ARE MADE FOR AUTO WEEK

The Executive Committee Meets and Organizes.

Large Subscriptions to Entertainment Fund Will Probably Be Announced Today — Arrangements Will Be Made for a "Welcoming Committee."

Filled with enthusiasm, the executive committee, in charge of working out the details to make "Automobile Week" in Atlanta the greatest in the history of the south, met for organization at the call of Colonel F. J. Paxon, chairman, in the rooms of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Before the meeting began Brooks Morgan, one of the best known railroad men in the south, and now connected with the F. E. Block company, was named by President Asa G. Candler as a member of this executive committee and will meet with them daily hereafter.



F. J. PAXON.
Chairman of Executive Committee.

This ways and means committee, after an interesting meeting which lasted two hours, decided upon these main points:

The committee will meet daily at 4:30 p. m. for a time at least.

The committee will formulate and publish at an early date an address to the people of Atlanta, Ga., and the south in regard to "Auto Week."

That a score or more sub-committees are to be appointed and put to work at once.

That the canvassing committees are to be named probably this afternoon and will complete the work of raising the required $20,000 before Saturday night.

At the meeting Thursday afternoon, which was executive, the major portion of the time was spent in outlining these sub-committees, including the canvassing committee, and inasmuch as they were not completed by the hour of adjournment, it was decided to withhold their names until the entire list can be announced at the same time.

Large Subscriptions Announced.

No more subscriptions to the fund were announced during the day, for the reason that none were solicited.

Today or tomorrow the five leading department stores on Whitehall street will announce a lump sum, and it is reported this will be $2,500. The Atlanta hotel men's association, who are to profit more from this "Automobile Week" than anyone else, will hold a meeting, probably today, and are expected to give $2,500.

The Clearing House Association, which is expected to make a handsome contribution, will probably announce $2,000 for this fund, and several times this sum is expected from the railroads which center in this city, particularly from the Central of Georgia, the Atlanta and West Point, which will handle much of the crowd out to the races, and the street car company, whose capacity will be taxed to cope with the crowds which will come to Atlanta for the week.

The committee anticipates no difficulty in raising the proposed $20,000 by Saturday night and dismiss this feature from their minds and get deeper at work on the other details to be worked out.

It is expected among the other innovations to be set on foot will be the establishment at once of an information bureau with a secretary and staff in charge, who will answer all communications and give all sorts of information in regard to the various events, accommodations, rates, etc., incident to "Automobile Week" in Atlanta.

It has been suggested that every Atlantan be named on the welcoming committee for that week and wear a button, "I Live Here, Ask Me," which proved so helpful at the Savannah races last fall.

There will be no end of suggestions made to this committee and every good one will be adopted, for the committee is determined that nothing shall be left undone to make this week a most brilliant success.

With this committee meeting daily and an address to the public about to be issued, followed up by the active work of the canvassing committee and other sub-committees, it would seem that the ways and means committee had struck its gait and soon the results will be in evidence.

PARRY CHEWNING DIES AT HIS MOTHER'S HOME

The Grim Reaper Found Him Just When His Future Was Bright.

He came to Atlanta from Chattanooga, and lived with his mother, Mrs. Margaret E. Chewning, at No. 34 West Twelfth street. He was tenderly cared for by loved ones during his illness, and he had many warm friends who were deeply grieved when the grim reaper took him from his happy home.

AEROPLANE BUILT BY A YOUNG WOMAN

Miss Todd Thinks Her Machine Superior to Those Used in France.

New York, September 2.—Miss F. L. Todd, a young woman living on Staten Island, has constructed an aeroplane which she thinks will be superior to any which won prizes last week in France. She has equipped it with a 50-horse power automobile engine and is seeking suitable grounds on which to test it. The apparatus is a biplane with a spread of 43 feet, and measures 6½ feet from back to front. Miss Todd says she will probably attempt her initial flight on Saturday.

WILL GIVE NEWSBOY NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES

Attorney Carl Hutcheson Will Make Serviceable Present to Louis Mitrick.

Louis Mitrick, the newsboy, who, it is charged, was whipped by his father because the little fellow did not sell a stipulated number of papers, will be given a suit of clothes by Carl F. Hutcheson, the well-known attorney, who is connected with the law department of the Louisville and Nashville railroad.

Mr. Hutcheson writes to The Constitution that if Louis Mitrick will call at his office, room 417 Equitable building, he will fit the boy out in a good suit of clothes.

Mr. Hutcheson says he loves newsboys, because he used to be one himself.

"Newsboys," states Mr. Hutcheson, "are the fathers of men, and how do we know when we purchase a paper from one of them but that we are buying from one of the future great men of the country?"

Louis Mitrick will get his suit of clothes today, and one more little boy will be made happy.

SOCIETY

A Collection of Rare Curios.

Those Atlantans who are lovers of collectors of curios have an opportunity to secure several of rare value in the possession of an Atlanta woman. She is the daughter of two of the best known and most distinguished families in the south, and inherited the treasures through her mother's family. Records of the family and the medium through which the treasures came will be furnished those who desire to see or purchase the curios.

In the collection is a paper knife of tortoise shell, which was the possession of Charles Dickens. The handle is in the design of a miniature horse's leg and hoof, the delicacy of the work Jennie Lind to the grandfather of the nails in the tiny horse shoe.

A watch key belonging to Abraham Lincoln has a notable history.

Two spoons similar in appearance came from interesting people, one from Jennie Lind to the grandfather of the lady owning the collection; the other belonging to William Thackeray, and having his monogram on the handle. It came through Margaret Clem, who was the wife of Edgar Allen Poe.

A pair of white kid slippers, worn by the beautiful Margaret Tyson, of Baltimore, at the coronation of Queen Victoria, are dainty in size and kind, and have an interesting history.

A quill, with which George Prentiss wrote many of his notable verses, and an old-fashioned pin, which Jefferson Davis gave Senator C. C. Clay when they were both imprisoned at Fortress Monroe, are in the collection.

A little white silk hat top, handpainted, was worn by that famous beauty, Sallie Ward-Hunt-Downs, and presented to the aunt of the present possessors.

An exquisite miniature of Robert Burns, set in gold, is another valuable curio in the same collection.

A handkerchief used by one of the ladies of the early Victorian court, is of thread cambric, exquisitely embroidered and carries with it a story of a famous Mobile beauty and belle.

Those desiring to inspect or know the history of the curios may do so by addressing "Curio Collection," Woman's Department, Constitution.

REINSTATEMENT FOR CADET BOOKER

Will Probably Be Result of Reopening of Case.

After Going Over Records in Case Secretary of War Dickinson Decides to Give Georgia Cadet Another Hearing.

Nashville, Tenn., September 2.—After going over the records in the case of J. H. Booker, Jr., the young cadet of the first class, who was dismissed from the United States Military academy on August 19 on charges of alleged complicity in a recent hazing case, Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson intimated that the investigation of the case will be reopened. A conference was held at Judge Dickinson's home at Belle Meade, yesterday between Mr. Booken and the secretary, with the result that the chances of reinstatement of the young cadet have improved.

Mr. Booker, who is a West Point-Ga., boy, arrived in Nashville Sunday night and appealed to Judge Dickinson to investigate the charges against him, in the hope that he might gain the powerful sanction of the secretary of war in his fight for reinstatement. Application for a rehearing of the case has been filed, and Judge Dickinson has taken the matter under advisement.

Doubt at Washington.

Washington, September 2.—The statement from Nashville today to the effect that Secretary of War Dickinson had intimated that the case of Cadet J. H. Booker, Jr., of Georgia, one of seven cadets from the United States military academy dismissed for hazing Cadet Sutton, might be reopened, was received with some doubt by the army officers in Washington.

The act of congress approved March 3, 1901, providing in effect that any cadet found guilty of hazing another cadet shall be summarily expelled, and that he shall not be eligible for reinstatement until two years after the class to which he belonged shall have graduated. It is pointed out, nevertheless, that, if the secretary of war is convinced that a material error was made by the board of inquiry in its findings, and that in all probability the cadet was not guilty of hazing, the secretary may direct another investigation, and that in this event, if the second board finds the cadet innocent of the charges, the secretary may reappoint the cadet, and also designate the class to which the cadet shall be assigned.

Department officials here are of the opinion that the secretary has no authority under the law to reinstate a cadet for hazing.

Nothing on the subject has been heard from Secretary Dickinson.

The General Education Board, New York.

To this board has been committed more than fifty millions of dollars to be used in the promotion of higher education. It is truly a most important and responsible trust. Hundreds of applications are received for aid from this fund. One object of the board in making appropriations from the fund is to elevate the standard of colleges. Hence every college applying for aid receives the most thorough and personal examination by experts. An appropriations, therefore, is a virtual recognition of the standard of the college. This board has recently offered Agnes Scott college, Decatur, Ga., $100,000 for endowment on condition that the friends of the college raise a certain sum. This offer is a distinct recognition of the high standard of Agnes Scott.

SWEAR THEY SAW BARBEE WITH PISTOL

Strong Legal Fight Is Being Made in Durham Murder Case.

Durham, N. C., September 2.—In its effort to convict Reuben Barbee of the murder of Engineer Holt, the state today relied mainly upon the evidence of three witnesses, Sol and Iverson Williamson, two negroe, and a white man, R. O. Scoggins. The two Williamsons swore that they saw Barbee backing out of the coal chute just after the shooting occurred with a gun in his hand. The lawyers for the defense tried to shake their testimony, but were unable to do so. Scoggins testified that he heard Barbee say he was going to pay a witness $100 to lay the murder on Lewis Goldstein.

Several hours were consumed this afternoon by the court in hearing arguments as to whether Sol Shepherd, who says that he killed Engineer Holt, should be allowed to testify in the case against Barbee. The matter is to be decided in the morning.

FOR 3,000 CLERKS CALL WILL BE MADE

They Will Be Used in Connection With Census.

First Examination to Be Held October 23 — The Clerks to Receive $600 a Year at Beginning.

Washington, September 2.—The bureau of the census today announced that approximately 3,000 temporary clerks will be appointed in connection with the work of taking the thirteenth decennial census. The first examination will be held throughout the United States on October 23, next. Very few appointments from this examination will be made before January 1, and not many will be made until April 1910. The maximum force will be drawn about August next year.

These appointees will receive salaries of $600 per annum at the beginning, but promotions, it is asserted, to at least $900 per year will be reasonably rapid for those who give satisfactory services. The appointment will be subject to termination as the exigencies of the service may require. All expire by law on June 30, 1912.

The average tenure of office, it is stated, probably will be about one year, but the general duration will range from six months to two years.

These clerks will not be eligible for transfer into the classified service.

Blank application forms and a circular of instructions, the bureau announces, may be obtained after September 10 by addressing the civil service commission, Washington, D. C.; the bureau of the census, Washington, D. C., or the secretary of the board of examiners at the following named places:

Post office, Boston, Mass.; Philadelphia, Pa., Atlanta, Ga., Cincinnati, Ohio, Chicago, Ill., St. Paul, Minn. Denver Colo., San Francisco, Cal., custom house, New York, N. Y.; New Orleans, La., old custom house, St. Louis, Mo.

In Georgia the examinations will be held at the following cities: Athens, Atlanta, Augusta, Macon, Savannah and Thomasville.

THE WEATHER TODAY: JUST MODERATELY COOL

A Touch of Fall in the Brand Now Being Handed Out by the Bureau.

"Fair, moderately cool Friday, with northeast to east winds; some clouds" is the local forecast for today, as issued by the weather man on Thursday.

For Georgia the forecast reads:

THE CLOCK STRUCK 9:30.

"Generally fair Friday; not much change in temperature."

September has certainly begun in a most delightful mood. The temperature has not been higher than 88, and on Thursday morning the humidity was as low as 69, making the day most pleasant. There is already being felt a touch of "fall" in the air, and a continuation of such weather will make the weather man solid with Atlanta, which has almost wilted during the past month.

"Were you ever caught napping?" queried the Gopher. "Well, a certain friend of mine was napping rather late the other morning, and he was caught, too, you bet. You see, the madam had been away, and returned to the city without giving notice. The aforesaid friend limped down to breakfast about 9:30, and—but, to tell it rest would be too cruel. Anyway, you see, there has been a decided drop in the temperature. Yesterday it went down to 88.

ULTIMATUM DELIVERED MALT LIQUOR SELLERS

Nashville Dealers Must Have Government License or Go to Prison.

Nashville, Tenn., September 2.—Government license or prison. This is the ultimatum of Internal Collector R. S. Sharp to the sellers of malt liquors of Nashville. According to him all dealers who sell malt or alcoholic liquors containing one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol or more and have no license from the government will have the heavy hand of the law. He will send his officers out to round up delinquents. These he will force to trial in the general court. What the judge of the court will do is, of course, not for him to dictate, but he will try the prison remedy.

United States government liquor licenses were due July 1. August 1 the penalty went on. It is now a month since the penalty for being delinquent accrued, and the collector holds that the government has been extremely liberal in allowing time. He holds, further, that there is no excuse for dealers not having secured licenses, and they will have to stand the consequences.

JOSH CASH CONFESSES TO SLAGLE MURDER

Exonerates Every One Concerned Except Himself and John Spencer.

Knoxville, Tenn., September 2.—A special to The Sentinel from Newport, Tenn., says that John Cash, who has been held in connection with the Slagle murder, last night made a statement to the sheriff. In this statement Cash absolved everyone except himself and John Spencer, who committed suicide at Jonesboro last Sunday night.

According to Cash's statement, Slagle was to meet Spencer at the house of B. A. Brooks, and on entering a hollow was met by Cash and Spencer. The latter, Cash says, suggested that they "have some fun out of Slagle," the intention being to run him back to the depot. A rock was thrown which struck Slagle on the head, and a pistol was brandished. Slagle, however, was doubtless afraid of robbery, and he also drew a pistol, which Spencer knocked from his hand. A struggle ensued, and Slagle was knocked to the ground. Spencer seized a rock and crushed Slagle's skull.

The body was subsequently taken to the French Broad river and thrown in. Cash says no others were implicated in the tragedy.

This morning he went with the sheriff over the scenes of the tragedy, as claimed in his story.

MADDOX AND PIERCE IN CORRESPONDENCE

In Reference to Aldermanic Contest From the Fifth Ward.

The fifth ward aldermanic contest assumed a new turn yesterday in a letter received by Candidate J. W. Maddox from Dr. G. Y. Pierce.

The latter, up to a short time ago, was considered a candidate, but later withdrew from the race in favor of Mr. Maddox, upon the latter's claim that since both of them had submitted their candidacies to a ward meeting, and the meeting had decided in favor of Mr. Maddox, it would be improper for Dr. Pierce to antagonize him.

Dr. Pierce accordingly withdrew from the race, but now it seems that he is considering entering it again, and he will do so, provided Mr. Maddox releases him from the obligation.

Mr. Maddox, in his reply, states that it is a matter for the ward and not for him to decide, and that he will be perfectly willing to release Dr. Pierce provided the latter agrees to leave the matter again to the registered voters of the fifth ward, Mr. Maddox offering to pay all the expenses of such a primary, and to withdraw from the race if he does not again carry the ward.

The correspondence is as follows:

"September 1, 1909.

"Mr. J. W. Maddox, City—My Dear Sir: Several days ago at a meeting held by our mutual friends, I consented not to oppose you as a candidate for alderman in the new fifth ward. Accordingly I sent you word withdrawing from the race.

"I was sincere in this decision, but since the possibility of my candidacy became exploited among my friends, I have been prevailed upon to reconsider.

"My friends and neighbors in the fifth ward have reviewed the benefits and improvements which I secured when last in the city council, and in view of the fact that the fifth ward is now in need of many necessary improvements, I am again urged to take up this work, my friends insisting that on account of my past experience and knowledge of the city affairs I am especially fitted to serve the best interests of the fifth ward as well as welfare of city-at-large.

"Yielding to these urgent requests, I am constrained to ask you to release me of my previous decision.

"Assuring you of my personal regards, I remain, yours very truly,

"G. Y. PIERCE."

Mr. Maddox's Reply.

"Atlanta, Ga., September 2, 1909.

"My Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your communication of September 1st, in which you state that you had formally announced that you would not oppose my candidacy for alderman from the Fifth ward, and that you had accordingly sent you (me word withdrawing from the contest.

"I note with much surprise that you now ask me to release you from an obligation that you had previously assumed.

"Since it is your desire in spite of the action of our ward and of your own voluntary withdrawal from the contest to reannounce your candidacy, and while, as you know, I would be glad to accommodate you in this, or in any other matter, I must say that the obligation you have assumed is not to me but to the people of the fifth ward, for it was to them that both you and I pledge our interest at a ward meeting specifically held for the purpose of deciding as to whether you or I should be the aldermanic candidate from that ward.

"If I had lost at that meeting I was under pledge to withdraw from the race. The meeting decided in my favor and in pursuance of that action you very properly withdrew from the race.

"I have only to say, therefore, in answer to your letter, that the only honorable way for you to reannounce your candidacy and to reenter a field which you felt in honor-bound to relinquish, would be by the consent of the ward itself.

"If the fifth ward does not want me to represent it as alderman I would not think of offering for the place. You say that your 'friends and neighbors in the fifth ward now insist that you violate your obligation and reenter the race.

"But neither your 'friends and neighbors nor mine have the right to express the sentiment of the whole ward.

"Notwithstanding the fact, therefore, that I now consider myself in honor entitled to your support, I again make you a proposition to leave your candidacy and mine to an expression of the registered voters of the fifth ward.

"I will pay all the expenses of the primary and both you and I will name a representative to count the ballot of the registered voters of the ward.

"If you get the majority of the votes I will support you.

"If I get a majority of the votes you are to support me.

"This is the only honorable way for you to be released from an obligation that should be as binding upon an honorable man as his oath, and if you will agree to this I will very promptly agree to release you from your obligation, and leave it for a second time to our ward.

"Kindly let me have your reply at once, obliging.

"Very truly yours,

"J. W. MADDOX."

IT WORKS.

The Laborer Eats Food That Would Wreck an Office Man.

Men who are actively engaged at hard work can sometimes eat food that would wreck a man who is more closely confined.

This is illustrated in the following story:

"I was for 12 years clerk in a store working actively and drank coffee all the time without much trouble until after I entered the telegraph service.

"There I got very little exercise and drinking strong coffee, my nerves grew unsteady and my stomach got weak and I was soon a very sick man. I quit meat and tobacco and in fact I stopped eating everything which I thought might affect me except coffee, but still my condition grew worse and I was all but a wreck.

"I finally quit coffee and commenced to use Postum a few years ago and I am speaking the truth when I say, my condition commenced to improve immediately and today I am well and can eat anything I want without any bad effects, all due to shifting from coffee to Postum.

"I told my wife today I believed I could digest a brick if I had a cup of Postum to go with it.

"We make it according to directions boiling it full 20 minutes and use good rich cream and it is certainly delicious."

It's Luck to Smoke PUCK

PUCK is a cigar to talk about. We talk about it because unlike other five cent cigars it will bear talking about. After we've talked about it you'll try it and then you'll talk about it.

PUCK

THE BETTER THAN 5¢ CIGAR

with the Havana taste

has a long leafed filler with no stems to interfere with free smoking. The binder blends the aroma and the genuine Sumatra wrapper helps that soft Havana taste.

Ask your dealer to show you PUCK and see the difference. Smoke them and taste the difference. Buy a box and keep them by. Buy them in your favorite shape.

The quality of the Puck cigar means a higher price to the dealer than is charged for most five cent cigars, but not a higher price to you. The best dealers are fair enough to give a man that for which he asks, but sometimes you will find it necessary to insist upon Puck, the better than 5c cigar, and take no substitute.

The city registration books closed yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and those whose names are not now written on the lists of the registrar will not be allowed to vote in the primary on September 23.

The number of registered voters will not be known until the lists are added up, and that will take four or five days at least.

It is estimated that the total registration will be in the neighborhood of 7,000. This is not considered a very heavy registration, for in the state primary last year the total registration was over 17,000, and in the city election last December the total registration was over 15,000.

The registrar has from now until September 23 to get his lists ready, and, as the registration is not large, he will have ample time to do the work.

In the meanitme the candidates are in the hustle. They are not, however, very fast about paying up their entrance fees. The list for candidates will close September 11.

All assessments must be paid to Harvey Hatcher, 1103 Century building, before 12 o'clock, noon, Saturday, September 11, is the rule laid down by the city executive committee.

Up to Thursday the following candidates had paid their assessments:

Fourth Ward—Henry F. Garrett, for councilman.

Fifth Ward—J. W. Rowe, for councilman; F. J. Chappelear, for city executive committeeman.

Seventh Ward—H. W. Dent, for councilman.

Tenth Ward—I. N. Ragsdale, for alderman; Walter J. Stoy, for councilman (long term); D. J. Baker, for councilman.

The assessments are: $100 for aldermanic candidates, $75 for councilmanic candidates, $1 for candidates for city executive committee.

Defrauded Bank of $50,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., September 2.—Clifford H. Drum, of Washington, Pa., former cashier of the Bank of Coal Center, and Frederick W. Ward, a business man of this city, were found guilty today of conspiracy to defraud the Bank of Coal Center of over $50,000. Both were recommended to the mercy of the court, and sentence was postponed until September 13. In the interval, the court decrees the defendants might endeavor to reimburse the bank of the money it had lost.

LIST OF BOOKS IN COUNTY SCHOOLS

What the Books Will Cost. Schools Open on September 13.

The fall term of the Fulton county schools will begin on September 13, the same date as those of the city. Two new schools which have been built during the summer will be ready by that time. The other school is a new building for the negro pupils of College Park.

Besides these two, bids will be received next week for a new four-room house at Mt. Vernon, five miles out on the Marietta road. Building here will be commenced by the last of this month and the school will be ready for occupancy by the end of the year.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, September 2.—Perhaps the lowest bureau report on record, 63.7, was less of a surprise to the cotton trade than was the estimate of Mr. Hester that consumption of American cotton last season was 13,116,000 bales. A low condition report was to be expected from the purblic and private accounts of the wretched condition of the crop west of the Mississippi, and the trade was also prepared for the heavy selling which had been predicted for the past forthight, when the report was made public. Every one has been told that this was the last bullish report, and that the south was only waiting to sell their cotton at this time. Very few, however, were aware of the large consumption of last season, when the Lancashire mills were closed, and to the thoughtful the prospect of a demand for such an amount of cotton this season from this crop is staggering. Nevertheless the local sentiment tonight is bearish, on the belief that the south will press their crop for sale at present prices, and that the spinner will wait for that pressure, regardless of his ultimate requirements.

New York, September 2.—Coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, in sympathy with the gain of ¼ francs in the French market, but found very little support and eased off later under scattered offerings encouraged by the record-breaking increase in the world's visible supply and continued heavy Brazilian receipts. COTTON ADVANCED JUST BEFORE REPORT

But Notwithstanding Report Was Bullish, Advance Was Not Fully Sustained.

New York, September 2.—The government cotton crop condition issued today proved the lowest on record, but caused only a moderate advance, which was not fully sustained, the market closing steady at a net gain of only 3@6 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 6@9 points, on better cables than expected, and showed little change during the morning, when trading was quiet and generally in the way of a further evening up for over the condition figures. Just before the government report was issued, January contracts were selling around 12.47, and the best price reached later was 12.60, a bulge of about 13 points, and a net advance of 20 points from the closing figures of last night. Possibly the approach of the three-day adjournment—over Labor day—restricted bull speculation to some extent; at any rate, demand proved insufficient to absorb realizing and selling by local bears, and during the late trading prices gradually eased off to within 2 or 3 points of last night's finals, with January closing at 12.45 bid, or only 5 points net higher. The lowest September bureau previously on record was in 1902, when the condition was only 64 per cent. The report of 63.7 per cent of today compared with 71.9 per cent last month, 76.1 per cent last year and 73.5 per cent the ten-year average. Considering the reduction in acreage, as compared with last year, the figures may be made the basis of very bullish mathematical conclusions regarding the probable size of the crop, and after midday many bullish cables were received from abroad regarding the prospect for future supplies. The day's weather news showed no special feature. Southern spot markets were 1-16c higher to 1-8c lower.

Receipts at the ports today 11,314 bales, against 7,182 last week and 11,931 last year. For the week 65,000 bales, against 34,709 last week and 79,332 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 30 bales, against 536 last year, and at Houston 6,967, against 5,978 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher; middling uplands 12.80; middling gulf 13.05; sales 30 bales.

New Orleans, September 2.—Cotton spots were steady. New ordinary 8¾ nominal; good ordinary, 11.00; strict good ordinary, 11 7-16; low middling, 11⅞; strict low middling, 12 3-16; middling, 12 7-16; strict middling, 12¾; good middling, 12¾; strict good middling, 12 15-16; middling fair, 13 1-16; middling fair to fair, 13 7-16; fair, middling fair to fair, 13 1-16; nominal. Receipts 30 bales; stock 34,712. Sales on the spot 257 bales to arrive none. For deferred delivery, 500 bales.

Futures opened steady at an advance of 5 to 6 points on good cables. All trading early in the day led up to the bureau report on condition, issued at 11 o'clock. This report was very bullish, the average condition of the crop on August 25 being put at 63.7 the lowest September figures on record. In spite of its bullishness the report fell flat, owing to heavy selling pressure. As soon as the figures were known a rise of 8 to 13 points took place, which put prices 15 to 19 points over yesterday's closing. Almost immediately the market reacted under a multitude of selling orders and the decline continued during the rest of the session. At the lowest, prices were unchanged to 2 points over yesterday. The closing was steady at a net advance of 2 to 3 points.

Dry Goods.

New York, September 2.—The dry goods market for the day showed a change in cotton goods. They were firmer in consequence of the receipt of a cotton government crop report and there was a little more trading with prices more steadily maintained. Linings have been advanced 5 per cent. Raw silk is fairly steady. Jobbers are making free shipments on cotton yarns. Cotton yarns are steady but not active.

STOCK MARKET NARROW AND UNINTERESTING

Quietude Caused by the Approaching Three Days' Close of Exchange.

New York, September 2.—The stock market today was narrow and very little speculative interest was shown in it. Such a development is regarded with some satisfaction by the banking and laregr financial interests, which saw a prognostic of evil after effects from the violent turmoil of the late speculation. The coming three days' closed interval, from Friday evening to the following Tuesday morning, emphasized the tendency to quietude in the market. The approach of such a perior usually prompts to an abstention from important new commitments, and also to a reduction of contracts already outstanding. It was to this cause that the advancing tendency of prices was attributed, to a large extent, as it is supposed that a remnant of the short interes built up on the recent break in prices still remains to be covered. News of the day had little influence on the trading. There was abundance of testimony to the vital improvement going on in the iron and steel trade contained in the reports of active demand for iron and for practically all grades of the finished product. These are the conditions foreseen by the confident buyers of United States Steel up to a price far above any previous record, while the general observer failed to detect the evidence of industrial revival and maintained a skeptical view of the professed faith of the buyers. Not the current trade returns, but the prospects for the future are what must be sought in the price fluctuations of securities and are what, doubtless, played their part in the rise in the price of United States Steel today, to within a small fraction of its highest record price. The small effect produced on the cotton market by the appearance of the government's report of the condition of that crop on August 25, deprived it of influence in the stock market to some extent. The severe deterioration in the condition of the crop is modified, in its effect on the position of the industries depending on a supply of cotton, by the large acreage planted and even more so by the after-effects of last year's crop, which is shown by the computation just finished by Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans cotton exchange, to be the largest crop ever marketed in the history of the country. The assurance of this suggested reserve ample to supply the deficiencies of the present year's product, helps to neutralize the consequences of the present shortage. There was a note of anxiety manifest in the grain markets, also, today, the attention paid to the drought in the corn belt shifting somewhat to the reported rains in the northwest, which it was feared might hurt the quality of the spring wheat harvest. The increase in the dividend by the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company was of more influence on the market for copper shares than was the news of trade conditions. The statistical position of copper is regarded as unsatisfactory, on the whole, the piling up of stocks abroad, indicating that the rate of production of the metal is still ahead of the consumption, with small promise, in this condition, or early betterment of prices for the metal. The general dullness of the market, wide movements in industrial specialties continue to stand out conspicuously. The American Hide and Leather stocks responded to a highly favorable annual report. American Locomotive suffered no apparent harm from the showing of a year's earnings insufficient to pay the full dividend on even the preferred stock. The failure to hold the entire advance in prices up to the end of the day was regarded as corroborative of the belief that professional operations made up a large part of the buying.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,270,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WET WEATHER DROVE SHORTS TO COVER

Closing Prices Three-Eighths to Five-Eighths Higher Than the Previous Close.

Chicago, September 2.—Wet weather in the northwest drove shorts to cover in the wheat market here today, which resulted in material advances in all deliveries. At the close prices were 5-8@½ to 5-8c above yesterday's final figures. Corn and oats closed firm, but provisions were easy.

Momentary weakness was manifested in the wheat pit at the opening of the market, owing to a decline of 1d to 1 3-8d at Liverpool, but a strong tone soon developed, and during the remainder of the day sentiment continued bullish. At the high point of the day prices were from 1 1-4 to 1 7-8@2 above the low marks. Several recessions occurred during the day because of profit-taking by local holders, but at the close, prices were less than ½ below the high point. Weather conditions in the northwest were the chief factor in the situation. Rains were reported in various sections of the spring wheat belt, and the official forecast predicted additional showers throughout Minnesota and the Dakotas during the next 36 hours. The movement of new wheat continued on a liberal scale and demand for the cash grain was strong in the northwest and southwest, but slow here. There were no export inquiries noted here. During the day the December delivery sold between 93 and 94 7-8@95c, and closed at 94½c.

Possibility of damage to the new crop by cold weather induced considerable buying of corn by shorts, which resulted in a strong market the greater part of the day. The September delivery displayed the greatest firmness. Additional rains in Iowa and Nebraska tended to offset the effect of the low temperatures. Cash corn was in active demand at the stiffest premiums noted for some time, and this helped to strengthen the options. At the close prices were 1-8 lower to ½c higher.

Oats were firm nearly all day, and were influenced chiefly by the strength of wheat and corn. Trade was light all day. The market closed firm, with prices 1-8 to 1-4c higher.

Light stocks of provisions in store here, as shown by the monthly statement issued yesterday, imparted moderate strength to provisions during the first half of the day, but realizing sales caused a loss of all the earlier gain, sentiment in the pit being bearish late in the session. At the close, prices were 5c higher to 7½c lower.

S. A. L. MACHINISTS STRIKE AT NORFOLK

Allege the Employment of Non-Unionists.

Officials of the Road State That Only Non-Unionists Employed Were Two Boys Who Had Learned Trade With Road.

Norfolk, Va., September 2.—Machinists at the Seaboard Air Line railway's general shops at Portsmouth have struck because of the alleged employment of non-unionists. The blacksmiths in the shops have also gone on a sympathetic strike.

Seaboard officials say that the only non-unionists employed were two boys who had learned their trade with the road; that the strikers failed to comply with agreements to have all such differences taken up and settled through their grievance committee, with headquarters in Savannah, Ga., and consequently their places will be filled by others.

It is stated officially that 46 per cent of the machinists and all but six blacksmiths have struck.

DREAM OF JAY GOULD WILL BE REALIZED

Through Trains From Mississippi River to Pacific Coast.

St. Louis, September 2.—The dream of Jay Gould for through train service from the Mississippi river to Pacific coast points will be realized within a few months, when the Missouri Pacific, in conjunction with the Rio Grande system and the Western Pacific, all of them GGould lines, will operate trains between St. Louis and San Francisco.

The new service will be the first provided over roads under the same ownership and control.

Every mile of the route will be part of the Gould system, under the personal direction of George J. Gould. The Western Pacific is the western link in the projected trans-continental line of the Goulds. The new route will be by the way of Kansas City and Pueblo, with through service to Denver.

GOVERNMENT MUST PAY $2,459,931 FOR LAND

Sites to Be Acquired on Which to Erect More Federal Buildings.

Washington, September 2.—In a report filed today the commission appointed by the supreme court o the District of Columbia to fix the value of the land and thus determine the price which the United States government will pay to the several owners of the property in the five squares bounded by Pennsylvania avenue, the Mall, Fourteen and Fifteenth streets, agreed upon a total valuation of $2,459,931.

This amount is $40,068 below the appropriation allowed by congress for the purchase of the ground upon which will be built suitable buildings for the departments of state, justice and commerce and labor. his is part of the project for the purchase of all land lying south of Pennsylvania avenue between the capitol and the treasury by the government.

PARTING OF HAWSER TAKES SEAMAN'S LIFE

Last of Atlantic Torpedo Flotilla Passes Virginia Capes.

Norfolk, Va., September 2.—The Porter, the last of the Atlantic torpedo flotilla from Newport, passed in the Virginia Capes early today following a breakdown en route, which first made it necessary for her to be taken in tow by the MacDonough and afterward to proceed under reduced speed.

Besides a rough trip from Newport the Porter had a fatality en route, the victim having been Albert Anderson, a seaman. While the Porter was in tow of the MacDonough a hawser parted and Anderson standing on the deck was almost instantly killed. As soon as it was seen that the Porter could proceed under her steam she was released and the body of the dead man taken on the MacDonough to Norfolk.

BAND OF FAITHFUL ROBBED BY PRIESTESS

Prophesies That Tampa Is to Be Wiped Off the Map on September 18.

Tampa, Fla., September 2.—Disappointed because their prophecy that Tampa was to be wiped off the map by a great disaster September 1, failed to come true, thirty footsore and weary disciples of the "Unknown Tongue," a new sect of religionists, returned to this city today from Durant, 25 miles from here.

Several days ago the party sold their all here and moved to Durant, which they were told would be outside the stricken zone. Their chief priestess, however, is said to have raised the price of provisions to the "faithful," the profits going to herself. The prophesy now has been revised to read September 18.

PARCELS FOR MAILS MUST BE WELL WRAPPED

Orders Have Been Issued to Postmasters by Secretary Hitchcock.

Washington, September 2.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has directed postmasters throughout the country not to accept for mailing parcels not wrapped properly. Complaints have been received by the postoffice department from foreign governments that "parcels" contained in the mails from the United States often are received in a damaged condition because originally they were not wrapped securely. The postal regulations provide that "parcels not properly wrapped must not be accepted for mailing."

ATHENS POLITICS LIVELY.

City Primary Will Occur the Latter Part of November.

Athens, Ga., September 2.—(Special.) Municipal politics is getting pretty lively here. The primary will occur the latter part of November. Two candidates are out for mayor, H. J. Rowe and J. T. Rhodes. In the first ward the race for alderman is between B. F. Woods, the incumbent, and O. F. Buchner. In the second, the announcements have not yet been made. In the third, Judge James F. Foster is an announced candidate. In the fourth, W. A. Mallory and A. M. Carter are the opponents.

INVISIBLE TORIC BIFOCALS.
Giving perfect vision, both for reading and walking, in one solid glass. Doing away with two pairs of glasses.
We have furnished thousands of them, but you can't tell they are bifocals at all; no seams, no dividing lines. A visit to our store will convince you we are leaders in this line.

Every Claim Settled.

Washington, September 2.—Three months of negotiations between representatives of the Nicaraguan government and those of the Emory Company of Boston, have resulted in the reaching practically of an agreement for the settlement of the claim of the company whose mahogany timber cutting concession was anulled by Nicaragua several years ago, though subsequently restored.

ALLEGED HEIR TO $200,000 NOW RUNNING RIFLE PARLOR

Rome, Ga., September 2.—(Special.) At present running a rifle parlor on Fifth avenue, but expecting in the near future to come into possession of the greater portion of an estate of $200,000, Mrs. Susan Ehlin, the Rome woman who is suing to have the will of John B. Crawford, of Atlanta, set aside, continues quietly about her duties. Mrs. Ehlin is the wife of William Ehlin and the two came to Rome about two months ago from Mississippi. The husband is known to the children of Rome as the "peanut man." He operates the push cart at the corner of Broad street and Fifth avenue, from which he dispenses popcorn and goobers. Mrs. Ehlin is the woman referred to in an Atlanta dispatch of recent date. On September 8 Ordinary Wilkinson, of Fulton county, will hear in Atlanta the case brought by Mrs. Ehlin to determine whether or not the alleged will of the late J. B. Crawford should be produed in court and set aside.

"I am Mr. Crawford's daughter," says Mrs. Ehlin, "and can prove it. They say his estate is worth $200,000, but I think it is worth more than that. The paper alleged to be his will is not his will, and this suit is just the opening wedge. My father was 54 years old when he died and I am 52."
